525 Reds Counted Dead In Attack On Border Village

Only One GI Dies In Third Loc Ninh Surge This Week

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops armed with mortars, bazookas and flamethrowers attacked the district town of Loc Ninh for the third time in five days today and suffered a staggering defeat. U.S. and Vietnamese troops killed 525 in today's battle to push Red losses this week to the 1,000 mark.

A spokesman said one American was killed and 11 wounded today in the battle 70 miles north of Saigon and 15 miles from Cambodian border where the Communists were reported to have established a secret base. The five-day toll was eight Americans dead and 32 wounded. South Vietnamese losses also were light.

A mixed force of North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas returned to the battle of Loc Ninh shortly after midnight but ran into a wall of fire from the defenders. U.S. fighter-bombers hit them with 100 divebomb attacks and artillery hurled 5,000 shells into the attack force estimated at 2,000 or more men.

ACTUAL COUNT

The actual body count of Communist dead stood at 995—with mountains of equipment captured. But the Communists drag many of their dead from the field and B52 bombers bombed their retreat routes today, adding to the toll.

It was perhaps the biggest defeat of the year for the Communists. They ran into in the Con Thien area this summer.

No one in the allied military hierarchy seemed certain as to exactly why the Communists want Loc Ninh which consists basically of a South Vietnamese outpost, a U.S. Green Beret Special Forces camp, a tiny runway and two battalions of infantrymen moved in this week to help the defense.

ORIGINAL PURPOSE

The original purpose of the attack apparently was to win a propaganda victory at the expense of South Vietnam's inauguration of a new president and the visit of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. They failed Sunday, they failed Tuesday and they failed again today.

U.S. Marines operating in the Con Thien area just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) were disclosed today to have launched four new ground sweeps along the DMZ and in Thua Thien province 40 miles to the south. So far light contact was reported. B52 strikes aided the sweeps.

In Saigon, U.S. military officials reported that casualties in combat last week—centering at Loc Ninh—totaled 166 Americans killed and 966 wounded

District Due Water Pipes Refund Share

SACRAMENTO — Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch today announced the distribution of $21,275,000 among some 320 governmental agencies in antitrust actions against six manufacturers of concrete and steel pipe. Still pending is action against a seventh company.

California and approximately 265 of its local government agencies including Marin Municipal Water District will receive in the neighborhood of $18 million from the partial settlement. The balance will be distributed to the states of Hawaii, Oregon and Washington and their local agencies, and the federal government.

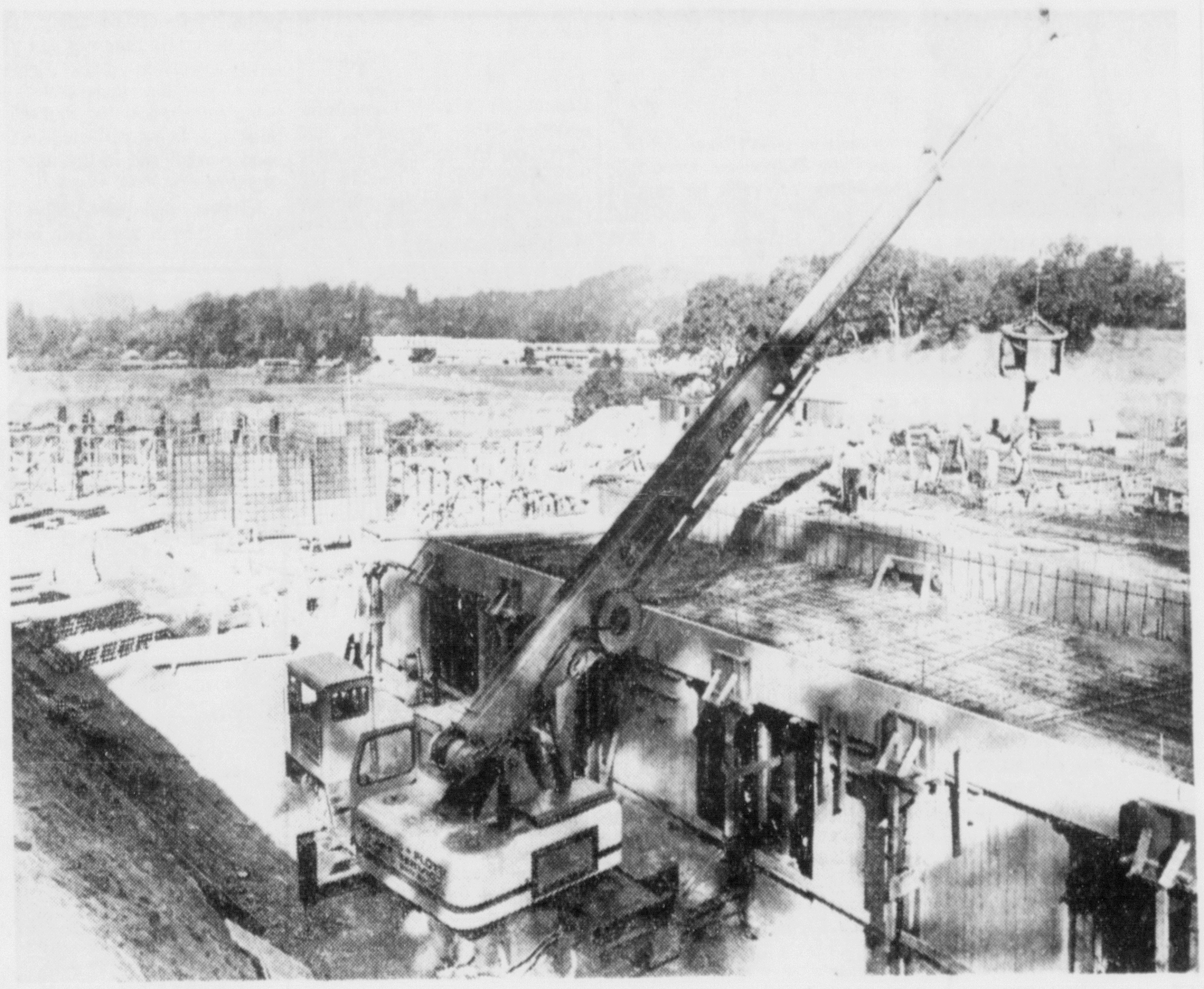
Robert W. Elliott, attorney for the water district, said today he was unable to say how much money the district will receive as a result of the settlement.

Lynch said, "This is the largest single antitrust settlement ever accomplished in the western states."

The $21-plus millions was paid as a lump sum by six of the seven manufacturers named as defendants in the antitrust action.

They are: Kaiser Steel Corp., Oakland; U.S. Steel Corp., New York; Martin-Marietta Corp., New York; U.S. Industries, Inc., Longview, Tex.; Smith-Scott, Inc., Riverside, and United Concrete Pipe Corp., Baldwin Park. The latter two are subsidiaries of U.S. Pipe and Foundry Co., Birmingham, Ala.

Trial of the cases against the remaining defendant, American Pipe and Construction Co. of Monterey Park, which did not participate in the settlement agreement, is pending.



MENTAL HEALTH CENTER GOING UP

Construction is well under way for the Marin Community Mental Health Center at Marin General Hospital in Greenbrae. Work officially began May 12 with groundbreaking ceremonies for the $1.5 million center being built by Christensen and Foster, Santa Rosa construction firm. The center is expected to be completed late next summer. (Independent-Journal photo)

Hot Session Goes Against Second Deck

Transit Board Reverses Stand In 'Rough' Debate

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County Transit District directors last night reversed previous action and called for a halt on the second deck of the Golden Gate Bridge in a stormy 4 to 2 vote.

"I've attended some rough meetings but boy, this was the roughest," commented Chairman Thomas T. Storer, who had to shout and pound the table on occasion to halt angry exchanges. (See Editorial Cartoon, page 24.)

The vote against the second deck study came at 11:45 p.m. after nearly four hours of debate, with a crowd of about 100 Marin and San Francisco residents overwhelmingly in favor of ferryboat service and against the second deck.

BEHR'S MOTION

Director Peter H. Behr moved that present and future studies for construction of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge be abandoned "until substantial improvements in mass transit has proved unable reasonably to solve the congestion on the bridge."

Director Ernest N. Kettenhofen, fought the motion tooth and nail, but received only William A. Gnoss' support. They were outvoted by Directors Behr, Storer, William Jack Adams of Novato, and Edward Colthurst of Corte Madera. Director John F. McInnis was absent.

The vote brought resounding applause from a partisan crowd that packed the supervisors' chambers in the Civic Center.

COUNTER MOTION

Kettenhofen insisted that the same board of directors had voted 6 to 1 previously, not opposing the construction of the second deck. When Behr moved to call a halt on the second deck, Kettenhofen countered with this substitution motion:

"Because this new motion would contradict the previous motion of the board, I move to continue the new motion until we have a full board (including McInnis)." His motion lost.

Kettenhofen was so incensed by the new vote that he reversed an earlier "yes" vote he had made in a unanimous resolution calling for a joint study of fast ferry service between Marin and San Francisco.

The appeal for better ferry service instead of a second deck came from Donald Vial of Lucas Valley and Michael Peevey of San Rafael, representing the Marin Transportation Action Committee.

In a prepared statement, Vial and Peevey called on the transit

Orr Is Fined $25 In Fracas At Dance Hall

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr was fined $25 today in Marin Municipal Court for disturbing the peace at a San Rafael dance hall Sept. 16.

The judgment by Judge Peter Allen Smith followed his denial of a motion by Orr for a new trial.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas, who prosecuted the jury trial, said he was recommending Orr get only a suspended sentence since he felt the case warranted no more severe penalty.

'ANY OTHER'

It should be treated "like any other case of a like nature," he added.

Orr's attorney, Roger P. Garety, however, said a suspended sentence would place Orr on probation. He said the "consequences to Chief Orr already have been so out of proportion to what he did" that Orr has been well punished.

Judge Smith ,who agreed the case resulted in much publicity for Orr, imposed the fine and did not place Orr on probation.

EVIDENCE, LAW

The motion for new trial was based on charges by Garety that Thomas indulged in prejudicial misconduct before the jury, and that the jury's verdict was not supported by evidence and law.

Orr was accused by Richard D. Cohn, 27-year-old dance promoter at Irwin Street Warehouse in San Rafael, of offensive condust and using vulgar and profane language. Orr was at the warehouse to fetch his 13-year-old daughter following a dance.

Malaysia Plans Viet Farm Aid, Humphrey Told

COMBINED AP & UPI

KUALA LUMPUR — Malasian officials who crushed a Communist insurgency similar to the one in South Vietnam have told Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey they are considering sending rural development assistant teams to help the Saigon government , it was learned today.

Informed sources said the Malaysian cabinet told Humphrey it was considering noncombat assistance for Vietnam, similar to the aid now given by Philippine civic action teams, but a final decision had not yet been made.

SIMILAR PROJECT

Malaysia had a similar project during the latter days of the Ngo Dinn Diem regime, but abandoned it.

The report on the possible increased aid for South Vietnam came as Humphrey spoke to the American community in Malaysia and told them the United States is not going to pull out of Vietnam.

He also said that his political future hinged on the war's outcome.

"If it is a colossal failure, I know what happens to me," he said.

LIGHT TOUCH

The generally light-hearted tone of his tour of Kuala Lumpur contrasted with the dangers of South Vietnam, where Viet Cong guerrillas fired mortar shells at a reception he was attending and shot holes in a plane scheduled to carry him on a battlefield inspection.

Six Killed, Marin Lieutenant Hurt As Jet Bomber Crashes In N.Y.

ROME, N.Y. — Six crewmen were reported killed today and two injured — including a Marinite — in the fiery crash of an Air Force jet bomber in a wooded area near here.

First Lt. Sidney W. Glover, 25, son of retired Army Col. and Mrs. Wellington Glover of 1010 Idylberry Road, Lucas Valley, was reported hospitalized at Griffiss Air Force Base with a broken leg. Glover was a navigator aboard the plane, a B52 Stratofortress.

The eight-engine craft was trying to make an emergency landing at Giffiss, a base spokesman said, when it went down about four miles north of here.

The spokesman reported the pilot had told the control tower he had engine trouble. He was heard telling the crew to eject, and at least two did.

Strategic Air Command headquarters said the plane was on a training flight from its Grand Forks, N.D., air base, and did not carry a bomb load.

The plane is the type used in bombing raids in Vietnam.

Glovers' parents said today they were told by a Griffiss physician their son was listed in critical condition, but merely for observation purposes.

They said he joined the Air Force after graduation from San Francisco State College four years ago. Sidney lives at the Grand Forks base with his wife, the former Marilyn Bunker of Belvedere.

Names of the dead and the other crewman injured were unavailable.

Goldberg's U.N. Worry

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told senators today his greatest frustration at the United Nations has been failure to enlist the world body in the search for peace in Vietnam. But he promised to keep trying.

Reporting to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on his efforts to bring Vietnam before the Security Council, Goldberg blamed the Soviet Union partly for the absence of U.N. action to end the war. He also pointed out that Hanoi has made it clear it would not recognize a U.N. role.

President Johnson once again expressed yesterday a readiness to talk peace with the Communists but said there hasn't been a word from Hanoi to suggest they are interested. He also called for unity at home to speed a conclusion to the war.

Goldberg testified at a hearing on a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and 53 other senators urging the President to push harder for Security Council consideration of the war in hopes of getting peace talks started.

Goldberg said one of his main tasks at the U.N. has been to

Cambodians Cool To U.S. But They're Loving Jackie

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Gay and laughing Jacqueline Kennedy arrived on a dream visit among cheering, squealing crowds today and captured the heart of Cambodia despite its government's bitter opposition to American policy in neighboring Vietnam.

Portly Prince Sihanouk, a stern critic of Washington, bubbled and joked when John F. Kennedy's widow emerged from a U.S. Air Force transport to begin what she planned as a quiet private visit to the ruins of a lost civilization.

Throngs of his subjects jammed U.S.S.R. Boulevard and Mao Tse-tung Avenue and roared their delight when Mrs. Kennedy, chatting in French with the grinning prince, passed by.

Government-approved newspaper editorials and official sources stressed there was not the slightest chance the flood of affection shown Mrs. Kennedy would melt the ice in diplomatic relations with her country.

But in the streets the reception rivaled that accorded last year to President Charles de Gaulle of France when he came to launch an attack on the United States for fighting in Vietnam.

Mrs. Kennedy flew to this fabled kingdom for a visit she has dreamed of since childhood. She found that the diplomatic wars had failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Cambodians for her and her late husband.

Mrs. Kennedy has traveled widely since President Kennedy was assassinated almost four years ago. But this is her first official journey not completely associated with his death, and the reception was tumultuous.

Supervisors See Juvenile Hall Role For Family Unit

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Transfer of $200,000 in Juvenile Hall construction funds to the Veterans Memorial Auditorium may mean use of the Family Rehabilitation Center building for Juvenile Hall expansion, in the opinion of two Marin County supervisors.

The transfer was voted 4-1 by the supervisors Tuesday to make possible financing of a 786-seat first stage of the memorial auditorium at the Civic Center. (See also story page 21.)

Supervisor John F. McInnis, who cast the dissenting vote, said today he interpreted the action as indicating the board plans to use the FRC building for juvenile hall expansion if necessary. He said this belief was part of his reason for voting "no."

"There has been no constructive discussion among us as to what shall be done with Juvenile Hall or the FRC facility," said McInnis. "It is not a sensible conversion of the use of funds . . . to transfer them from a project that we agreed is

Waterfowl Botulism Plague Subsiding

CORCORAN (AP)—Control of an outbreak of waterfowl botulism that claimed the lives of about 19,000 ducks along the Central California section of the Pacific flyway was reported today by conservation workers.

"Our big task now is to keep herding healthy ducks off the water," a fish and game spokesman said.

Social Security Tax Hike Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted today for a $6.1 billion increase in Social Security payroll taxes to pay for higher benefits it has inserted into an omnibus Social Security bill.

If enacted, it would mean that an individual earning $8,800 or more would pay $440 in Social Security taxes next year.

The Reagan administration said the cuts were necessary to keep the program within the $600 million limit imposed this year by the legislature.

LBJ Raps Congress On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, accusing Congress of "taking the inaction route," says its refusal to approve his proposed income tax hike already is costing Americans by feeding inflation.

At a hurriedly called news conference yesterday in the White House Cabinet Room, Johnson touched on topics ranging from Vietnam to the stock market but time and again came back to the theme that things are not going his way in Congress.

Later, this prompted Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., to suggest the President should look to his own party. With a heavy majority in both House and Senate, "the Democrats must take the blame or credit for what is done or not done," Mundt said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield responded to the prodding by pledging "we'll do our best to give him what he wants."

Mansfield said he agrees with the President that Congress should stay in session until it passes a tax-increase bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee declined comment on the President's remarks but the House Republican whip, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, predicted flatly that for this year, at least, "there will be no tax bill."

And Rep. John H. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, added: "The President just hasn't got the message, namely that there will be no tax bill consideration until the administration shows some inclination to cut down spending."

At his news conference, Johnson restated his position that Congress should be doing the cutting.

"I think they will cut $4 or $5 billion out of the appropriations that we have recommended this year," he said. "I will sign those bills they send me, although I think some of them are close ones."

What hurts—in lost revenue, interest payments and inflation-fanned price rises—the President said, is inaction in the taxes-spending dispute.

"Now we are doing nothing," he said. "We are at a standstill."

When a reporter asked Johnson to comment on recent downturns in stock prices, Johnson again put the blame on Congress.

"I think when you have an uncertain future," he said, "you have uncertain markets and you have uncertain stock prices. Some of this uncertainty is being reflected in the market. I think it is being reflected in the bond market and in the interest rates.

Johnson said the people of South Vietnam and their newly elected government are "trying to make progress and move forward" but that the hoped for changes will take time.

The United States continues to be ready at any moment to call off the bombing of North Vietnam "if they will talk promptly, productively, and not take advantage of us," the President said.

Johnson again defended the right of antiwar demonstrators and critics of his policies to have their say, but added, "I don't think they have really helped our Marines a whole lot up there on the DMZ."

Florida Father Says Dozen Children Died

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) —The investigation into the poisoning of seven children broadened today as authorities held an inquest in Arcadia and studied records in Jacksonville to determine how 12 of a fruit picker's 15 children died.

Sheriff Frank Cline, who jailed the children's father — 32-year-old James Richardson— on a child neglect charge Tuesday night, said Richardson had told him five of his other children by a former marriage had died in Jacksonville prior to the Arcadia deaths.

Seven of Richardson's children, ranging in age from 2 to 8, died last week after eating pork and beans that Cline said had been laced with parathion, a deadly poison sometimes used as an agricultural pesticide.

Cline and County Judge Gordon Hays said yesterday they had enough evidence "to file murder charges against Richson" but agreed to convene a coroner's jury at the request of State Atty. Frank Schaub.

At a news conference, Cline said Richardson was "motivated by a remuneration for life insurance." Richardson took out $1,000 double indemnity life insurance policies the night before the children were stricken, Cline said.

Cline said he did not know how the Richardson children died in Jacksonville, where Richardson lived until 1961, but had information indicating they died mysteriously. Cline said that, by Richardson's "own account, he is the father of at least 15 children, and 12 of these are now dead."

Richardson and his third wife, Annie Mae, 29, were arrested in Arcadia after they submitted to lie detector tests Tuesday.

London Bridge For The U.S.?

LONDON (AP) — London Bridge may follow the Queen Mary across the water to the United States. Or at least a highly symbolic part of it may make the trip.

The City of London, getting ready to break ground Monday for a new London Bridge across the Thames, today disclosed "serious" offers from California, North Carolina and Arizona to buy the granite face of the old bridge, carry the 10,000 tons of stone over the Atlantic and build their own London Bridge.

The proposals are among about two dozen offers for the still handsome face of the 136-year-old structure. Bids will close next March 31.

Blind Workmen Picket For Pay

BERKELEY (AP) — A strike for higher wages and fringe benefits by the blind and handicapped entered its second day today at California Industries for the Blind plants in Los Angeles, San Diego and Berkeley.

About 210 of the 279 who make brooms, bedding and other items at workshops were on the picket lines, some with signs criticizing Gov. Ronald Reagan for vetoing a bill that would have given them a pay raise.

Officials of the Union of State Employes, AFL-CIO, said about 50 of the 80 workers at the Berkeley plant struck.

Reagan Calls Session On Southland Blazes

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Fire fighters worked today to contain the last of Southern California's disastrous brush fires as the loss of human life reached five and property damage estimates exceeded $10 million.

A crew of 1,200 men surrounding the stubborn 10,000-acre Julian blaze were hampered by rugged terrain. Steep canyons of the San Diego River bed hindered fire fighters.

Gov. Ronald Reagan in Sacramento announced steps would be taken to aid property owners hit by the fires which have ravaged 162,000 acres in Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego Counties since Sunday.

In addition, tax relief will be considered by the California Legislature in special session next week. Reagan said the possibility of lowering taxes of fire-damaged property will be discussed.

Howard Moore, deputy state forester, said juveniles are blamed for starting two Riverside County fires that blackened 68,000 acres. Sparks from power other fires.

The body of a fifth fire victim was discovered yesterday. It was believed that of David Smith, 68, of San Gabriel, whose brother Frank, 73, of Orange was found 100 feet away in a burned vehicle Tuesday.

The two men were motion picture industry pioneers and great-nephews of the late Albert E. Smith, founder of the old Vitagraph Co.

The two apparently were trapped early Tuesday by a fast-moving fire on Mount Gleason northwest of Los Angeles as they drove in separate vehicles to look over a mining claim.

Sausalito School Bond Fate On Agenda

The recent defeat of a $1.4 million bond issue for school construction and improvements will be discussed Monday by the Sausalito School District Board. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the district office.

Also on the agenda are a report on district building needs and a discussion of the possibility of selling Richardson Bay School.

Millions Asked For Hospitals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The independent Bay Area Health Practices Planning Association says $137 million is needed for hospital modernization and health projects in the Bay Area.

The likelihood, however, is that only about $45 million in state and federal grants will be available for such purposes throughout California this fiscal year.

As a result, priorities have been worked out.

Number one went to Presbyterian Hospital of Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco. Second priority was given to San Francisco General Hospital.

California Lawmakers Try Canned Smog To Save Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canned California smog is being used in a campaign to persuade the House that the state should be allowed to maintain its separate, stricter auto exhaust control program.

A House vote was expected late today on an amendment to remove a section requiring equal standards in all states, administered by the federal government, unless a state can convince officials to exempt them.

The issue, which has produced a steady verbal duel between Detroit and California, is the only controversy in a $428.3 million, three-year extension and strengthening of federal programs aimed at air pollution.

The controversial part of the bill, authored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., and supported by auto manufacturers, would displace a Senate amendment offered by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., permitting California to continue to set and administer its own exhaust standards.

The amendment to restore the Senate provision was to be offered today by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., with the support of the entire 38-member California delegation.

Cans of "Los Angeles Smog"—complete with skull and crossbones markings—were handed out yesterday as a warmup for today's test.

Aerial views of the smog-shrouded city were also put on display.

And Reps. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., and Ed Reinecke, R-Calif., held a demonstration near the Capitol Wednesday at which they displayed 30 sacks of mail they said contained more than 300,000 letters mailed to congressmen in response to a series of radio programs on air pollution in Los Angeles.

"The Dingell amendment would benefit the auto manufacturers and no one else," they said.

Public Records Bill To Be Drafted Again

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill to increase availability of public records will be drawn by the Public Records Advisory Committee when it meets in the Capitol office of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, on Nov. 9 at 2 p.m.

The legislature failed this year to pass a bill by Bagley to open up public records to public scrutiny. It was defeated because of objections by the League of California Cities and the County Supervisors Association of California.

necessary now to one that is desirable but can be postponed."

McInnis said "the problem will not go away" by abandoning the FRC program, and until the board decides what is to take its place, there should be no action that might commit use of the building.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said "it is only a guess" that transfer of the funds will mean use of the FRC building for Juvenile Hall expansion, but said he thought it likely. He called it significant that Chief Probation Officer Walter H. Busher made no objection to the transfer.

Chairman Thomas T. Storer, however, disagreed. He said addition to Juvenile Hall is not needed. He said he tried to get the $280,000 set aside for a new girls' wing at the hall deleted from the budget before its adoption late in August, because the need had not been shown.

"The FRC in my opinion is not going to survive in its present form," said Storer. "I want to see some kind of program involving the families, though."

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said the transfer "did not necessarily" mean the FRC building would be taken over for Juvenile Hall expansion.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss could not be reached for comment.

"Even if we wanted to go ahead on the Juvenile Hall, we wouldn't need the money this year," said Kettenhofen. There have been too many delays since it was budgeted, he said.

The $290,000 in the budget was to be augmented by another $290,000 next year for a new girls' wing at Juvenile Hall and improvement of other facilities there.

$7,500 Claim On Polluted Milk

A Ross grandmother and her two grandchildren have filed a $7,500 claim against the county of Marin, charging that polluted milk caused them to become ill last may 2.

Mrs. Beatrice L. Hipsley of Upper Ames Road, Ross, and her grandchildren, Chad and Barron Leibert, aged 3 and 5, charge the county with negligence.

Their claim, filed with the Marin County Board of Supervisors by San Francisco Attorney Arnold M. Greenbreg, alleges the county officials failed to properly inspect and control milk preparation and delivery and failed to give prompt warning to the public immediately upon discovering the source of the polluted milk.

The claim will go to the supervisors next Tuesday.

"I must confess that the failure of these efforts has been my keenest disappointment and my greatest frustration during my service for our government at the United Nations," he said.

Goldberg said it was with regret that he had to report "a general unwillingness" by the Security Council to consider the matter.

He also cited statements by Peking as well as Hanoi showing them adamantly opposed to United Nations involvement in the Vietnam problem. State Department officials believe the Soviet Union also is opposed because of Hanoi's stand.

VISIT

Humphrey exchanged 20 minutes of pleasantries with the Malaysian king, Sultan Ismail Nasiruddin Shah, who is elected to a five-year term by his fellow Malay state rulers.

He was heard to tell the king that the upcoming marriage of Lynda Bird Johnson, the President's daughter, would be "quite a social event."

Later, he placed a wreath on a memorial to Malaysia's war dead and paid a visit to the National Mosque where he, his party and the more than 100 newsmen with him kicked off their shoes before entering.

Humphrey told the American community "there isn't a responsible U.S. political leader who says we should withdraw" from Vietnam.

He said: "We're there and we're not going to leave. I don't care how many demonstrations you have. The nation is committed."

It raised to 105,488 the total American Vietnam war casualties — including 14,266 killed, 47,700 wounded and hospitalized, 42,717 wounded and returned to duty without hospitalization and 805 missing.

But bad flying weather gave North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haiphong key war machine zone yesterday a break after eight straight days of intensified American bombing.

Five of his followers have committed fiery suicide since Oct. 2 in their campaign against Thieu, a Roman Catholic convert they accused of trying to "destroy" Buddhism.

The reported threat by Thich Tinh Khiet, about 85, came hours after the fifth self-immolation. Nun Hui Tri, 28, poured gasoline over her robes and lit a match to them yesterday at the coastal city of Nha Trang, 20 miles north of Saigon.

FOOD for THOUGHT

At one time the world of "haute crusine" began and ended with Latin Europe. The French, Italians and, to some extent, the Spaniards made cooking a fine art. Over the years, there has been a gradual change. Latin Europe will, undoubtedly, remain the leader in the culinary field for a long time.

A complete collection of Latin recipes would make a Webster's Unabridged Dictionary look like a pocketbook edition.

WAF FOR 23 YEARS

Decides On Another Hitch At 60

By THERON A. NEWELL

Getting out of her car, S/Sgt. Mary Strader makes sure that her birds are all right, takes a sack containing home grown tomatoes and goes to work in the administrative section of the 78th Combat Support Group controller's division at Hamilton Air Force Base.

To her fellow workers, this is characteristic of Sergeant Strader who, at 60 years of age, reenlisted Saturday in the Air Force at Hamilton after 23 years of active and reserve service.

Officials at Hamilton think that she is the oldest member of the Women's Air Force.

This reenlistment was for four years, and Sergeant Strader hopes to complete another 11 years with the WAF so that she may retire.

Sergeant Strader, also known as Mrs. Carl Strader, lives with her husband, a retired heavy construction worker, in San Leandro. She drives the 40 miles to Hamilton and back each day.

"I don't want to be responsible for anyone else, nor do I want anyone else being responsible for me in the freeway traffic," said the pert little grey haired woman dressed in Air Force blue.

Mrs. Fern Obee, chief of the administration section under whom Sergeant Strader has worked for the past five years, says that as soon as new workers meet Sergeant Strader and work with her, they forget the difference of age, though she could easily be the grandmother of many of them.

"She adopted the whole Air Force for grandchildren," Mrs. Obee said of Sergeant Strader.

"I like to garden and have half an acre on which I can do anything I want to," she explained. Her garden produce finds its way to her fellow workers.

"Besides gardening, I raise birds, canaries, parakeets and cockatoos, to sell," she said. That was why she had a cage of seven of them in her car yesterday. She sells them to Scooter's Pet Shop in Novato and other people around Novato and Hamilton.

S/SGT. MARY STRADER
Another hitch

As if those two hobbies weren't enough, the busy diminutive sergeant crochets and knits. She won first place for her crocheting in the Alameda County Fair in 1955. As a sideline, she keeps two German shepherd dogs.

Her military career started in 1944, when she enlisted in Oakland during World War II after she had been married 13 years.

"I wanted to do something for my country, but I did not want to become a welder, so I joined the Women's Army Air Corps," she said. This later became the Women's Air Force.

She was stationed at Alameda during the war. Later she was sent to Dayton, Ohio, for two months and then to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

For 15 years, after leaving the service in 1948, she was in the Air Force Reserve, assigned to the 349th Troop Carrier Wing, now known as the 349th Military Airlift Wing.

"During the Cuban crisis, I was called up with the rest of the Golden Gate Wing," she said.

After that call to active duty, she was assigned to the office where she still works.

That office what has come to seem a "family" of workers who have been together for years. Mrs. Victor Willworth of Novato and Mrs. Arline Balmer of San Rafael have been there six and seven years respectively.

"This is unusual for the service where a tour of duty of three years is the usual time," Sergeant Strader said.

Sergeant Strader explained the Air Force policy on reenlistment for women.

"If you have no children, do not have 20 years of service so that you can retire, and can pass the physical, then you can reenlist," she said.

"I'm looking forward to being in the service until I can retire in 11 years. After all, I'll only be 71 then," she added.

Volunteers Asked For Slow Classes

Marin County school officials are appealing for volunteers to work in classes for slow-learning pupils.

Volunteers are being sought for as little as a half day a week to work with classes located throughout the county. School officials here have scheduled an informational meeting for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 15 in the county schools office at 201 Tamal Vista Drive, Corte Madera.

Surgery Near For The Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI may undergo his prostate operation this weekend, Vatican sources say.

"I believe surgery will take place Saturday or Sunday, if not tomorrow," one high official said.

The operation had been expected next week, but the possibility of a delay arose when the 70-year-old Pope suffered a relapse Saturday night, the second since he fell ill Sept. 4 with a urinary infection caused by an enlarged prostate.

Transit District Opposes Span Deck

district directors to "go clearly and unequivocally on record in opposition to a second deck." They urged that top priority be given to an immediate study, jointly with San Francisco, to determine the feasibility of fast ferry boat service.

URGES HALT

"We further urge the Marin Transit District to hold in abeyance other studies aimed at establishing a bus system between Marin and San Francisco until completion of the proposed ferry boat study."

"The majority has agreed that the number one solution for the foreseeable future is improved bus service," thundered Kettenhofen. "Anything that will delay the improved bus system, I'm going to vote against." He charged that the ferryboat advocates were engaging in "obstructionist tactics" to delay improved bus service.

When Storer introduced his ferryboat study resolution, Kentenhofen agreed to vote for it if wording were added to assure that this motion would not interfere with the board's previous actions, favoring an improved bus service and studies on the second deck.

FERRY MOTION

"This is in addition to and not in derogation of previous actions taken by this board," replied Behr. Immediately after the ferryboat motion passed 6 to 0, Behr introduced his motion to halt studies on the second deck.

Kettenhofen nearly leaped out of his chair. "You just assured me you would not act in derogation of previous actions," shouted Kettenhofen. "I think your action is dishonest!"

"Will you cool down!" shouted Chairman Storer pounding the table. "I'm still chairman here!"

Bitter debate was not confined to the directors sitting at the head table. Kettenhofen and Supervisor Leo McCarthy of San Francisco sparred sharply on ferryboats vs. the second deck.

And still another quarrel flared briefly between two Golden Gate Bridge Directors in the audience — Thomas D. Hardcastle of Marin and Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco.

URGES CAUTION

Hardcastle got up to explain he has been a strong advocate of an improved bus system for Marin to San Francisco commuters. "It is not my intention to rush pell mell into a second deck."

"Don't kid yourself," declared Leonoudakis, warning that second deck construction is imminent.

Waving a finger at Hardcastle, Leonoudakis shouted: "As soon as you support halting the second deck study, then I'll support improved bus service for Marin!"

Supervisor McCarthy of San Francisco argued for the ferryboat study, pointing out that San Francisco supervisors had unanimously called for such a study. He warned that if the second deck construction goes through, San Francisco's support for improved Marin bus service may be withdrawn.

'A BIG MAN NOW'

Petrus Ramaboa, his daughter, Maria, (center) and his wife, Ernestine, who earlier this year found a huge diamond in their African nation of Lesotho, arrive at Kennedy International Airport in New York. The family received more than $300,000 for the 601-carat stone. The family is in the U.S. to see specialists for treatment of Maria, who is deaf and crippled. Asked yesterday about his good fortune, Ramaboa replied: "I'm a big man now." (UPI Telephoto)

Dual Purpose Buses Advanced For Marin

Marin should study the possibility of using dual purpose buses that can skim over existing railroad tracks where available, retract its railroad-type wheels, and roll over the Golden Gate Bridge into San Francisco, Marin's new transit district director suggested last night.

Seymour Kashin, who has had 10 years experience with rail mass transit in New York, made the recommendation to the Marin County Transit District directors. He also stressed the importance of preserving the existing Northwestern Pacific rights-of-way for future transit needs.

NOT NEW

"These rights-of way are an asset that the county cannot afford to lose," said Kashin. "Once lost, we cannot acquire them except at tremendous cost."

He said the dual purpose bus, equipped with railroad type retractable wheels, is not a new or unique device, but is already in use in New York and Philadelphia. "It could approach the bridge as a rail car, retract its wheels and operate on wheels over the bridge into San Francisco," said Kashin.

"This is just a means of buying time pending a long range solution," said Kashin. "If this proves superior to what we have now and at the same time can secure the railroad rights-of-way, it will give us breathing space."

Kashin suggested that such a dual purpose bus be brought into Marin for demonstration runs on existing tracks to determine feasibility.

The directors authorized Kashin to explore the possibility of this dual purpose bus, making sure that Northwestern Pacific Railroad will permit demonstration runs.

Raymond Ryason, chairman of the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee, announced his committee has passed a resolution in favor of improved bus service, and "I'm delighted."

"This is an excellent idea," said Director Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "But it should be noted that Mr. (Peter H.) Behr first inaugurated this idea."

SEVERAL OBSTACLES

Director Behr reported that the use of railroad rights-of-way have been considered, and several obstacles have been discovered. The tracks, particularly Corte Madera tunnel, is in poor condition, the railroad is loathe to allow joint use of the tracks, and cities like Corte Madera and Mill Valley may not relish "foreigners from the north moving through their towns," said Behr. "I'm not being negative. I'm just pointing out it's not all roses and cream."

Transit Unit Votes $15,000 To Fight Bus Fare Increases

Marin County Transit District directors last night voted a $15,000 appropriation to mount a legal fight against Greyhound's request for fare increases.

They acted unanimously on the recommendation of Marin's new transit district manager, Seymour Kashin.

Kashin pointed out that Greyhound wants to eliminate the reduced rate commute fares and substitute a 20-ride ticket book at 10 times the round trip fare. The company also seeks increases in one-way fares.

KILL SERVICE

Kashin warned that the fare increases, if approved by the state Public Utilities Commission, would just about kill commute service in Marin.

"I propose that Marin County take a strong stand in opposition but not in a negative sense," said Kashin. He recommended that R. L. Banks and Associates, a consulting firm in Washington, D.C., be hired to study Greyhound's operations and present a counter-proposal at the PUC hearings, starting in December. He said a counter-proposal showing where Greyhound might reduce cost would be more effective than simple opposition with no constructive recommendations.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney backed up Kashin. "I believe this is Greyhound's first move to withdraw from the commutation service in Marin County," said Maloney. He warned that the proposed bus fare increase would make bus commuting economically impossible for most residents.

NOT A STUDY

Maloney and Kashin explained that the Washington consultants would compile information to be used as a rebuttal against Greyhound's fare increase application. "This is not another study," said Maloney. "This is to prepare a case in opposition to Greyhound.

Administrator Alan Bruce emphasized that Marin, in fighting the fare increase, will use extensive exhibits and other material, and such costs would be in addition to the $15,000.

On a motion by Director William Jack Adams of Novato and a second by Director Peter H. Behr, the board authorized Kashin to negotiate with Banks and Associates for a contract to compile information needed to fight the proposed bus fare increase, at a cost not to exceed $15,000.

'DEAD' G.I. RECOVERING—Army Spec 4 Jacky C. Bayne of Fort Mill, S.C., and his mother, Mrs. Bunia Bayne, look at get-well cards in Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C. The 22-year-old soldier was discovered by an embalmer to be still living after doctors declared him dead of Vietnamese booby trap wounds. (AP Wirephoto)

SAVED BY EMBALMER

'Dead' Soldier Makes A Gradual Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young American soldier, pronounced dead of boobytrap wounds, showed signs of life while under the knife of a U.S. Army embalmer in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 Jacky C. Bayne, 22, of Fort Mill, S.C., was pronounced dead near Chu Lai last July 16 after doctors had worked for 45 minutes trying resuscitation.

His seemingly lifeless body was sent routinely to an Army graves-registration section nearby and it was sometime later—no one knows exactly how long—when the embalmer's knife made its first incision.

There was a faint flicker of life and Bayne was rushed back to a field hospital. After more resuscitation and numerous blood transfusions there were other signs of life.

Today, more than three months later, Bayne is moving toward at least limited recovery at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The Bayne story was published today by the Knight newspapers after research and interviews by James Batten of the Washington Bureau.

Army doctors at Walter Reed call the Bayne story "amazing" and "astounding." No doctor interviewed could recall such a case before.

An official spokesman at the hospital emphasized that the Bayne case is a medical rarity and should cause no worry to relatives of men fighting in Vietnam.

"Every effort," said the hospital spokesman," is made to apply resuscitative measures whenever there is any hope of saving a patient."

Army doctors use a variety of tests to establish death before giving up on men wounded in combat. Only when there is no spontaneous breathing, no audible heart beat, no pulse and no activity on an electrocardiogram do doctors conclude that the patient is dead.

In the Bayne case, all these signs of death were apparent. "By all the accepted criteria he was dead," said one Army doctor.

His progress has been steady but Army doctors say that the human brain cannot be deprived of blood for more than four or five minutes without suffering damage.

"But he's really been improving quite remarkably," said an Army doctor familiar with the case.

This doctor, who declined to be identified, gave much of the credit to Bayne's 61-year-old mother. Mrs. Bunia Bayne has stayed at her son's side since he arrived at Walter Reed in early August.

"He says the Lord brought him back from Vietnam," said Mrs. Bayne.

During the four months Bayne was in Vietnam before he was wounded he wrote his mother several letters.

"He wrote, 'Please don't say I shouldn't be here. I should be here. It makes one appreciate their family and the country they live in,'" Mrs. Bayne said.

Petaluma Firm Lowest Bidder On Patrol Cars

Norton Brothers Dodge of Petaluma submitted the lowest of three bids to provide 12 Dodge patrol cars for $31,157 for use by the county sheriff's department.

The bids were opened yesterday at Civic Center.

Norton quoted a unit price of $2,596.47 plus sales tax, while Marin Dodge of San Rafael bid $2,652.76 per unit, and Nave Garage of Novato, $2,718.85.

County purchasing agent John Hettrich said the 12 new cars, which are substantially the same as those used by the California Highway Patrol, will replace old patrol cars now in use by the sheriff's patrol.

The bids will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors next week or the week after for a decision.

Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory is near Altadena, California.

Paper Discloses Russian Worry

WASHINGTON (AP) — "All men who have dealt with Russia," wrote Ambassador W. Averell Harriman in 1945, "know of the Russian attempt to chisel, by bluff, pressure and other unscrupulous methods to get what they wish."

Harriman's remarks, advising the United States to stand firm against Soviet expansionist ambitions in Eastern Europe, were made during the U.N. charter conference while he was ambassador to Moscow. They were published this week by the State Department in a 1,611 page collection of formerly secret documents.

The documents reveal the cross-currents within the U.S. government on the forming of the U.N. and also the government's difficulties with the Russians, the French and others.

More than a billion metal tubes are produced each year in the United States and about half are used for toothpaste.

Street Is Closing For Improvements

Front Street from Diablo Avenue to Elm Drive in Novato will be closed to traffic for approximately three weeks, according to Lawrence A. Coleman, public works director.

This will allow the construction of street improvements and drainage facilities which are a portion of the Diablo-De Long realignment project, Coleman said. The vehicles will be routed via service road during the time which Front Street is closed, according to Coleman.

CAMPUS RUMBLES

MARINE PROTEST—A girl is hauled from the steps of the Iowa University Memorial Union at Iowa City during a protest to interviews by Marine recuiters. Elsewhere in the nation yesterday, students at Stanford taunted a lone CIA official, also during interviews. (AP Wirephoto)

Stanford Students Taunt CIA Official

COMBINED AP & UPI

Issues ranging from the campus presence of CIA recruiters to the bulldozing of a favorite lounging lawn prompted student protests yesterday at various colleges around the nation.

There were also expressions of support for open recruiting at Columbia University and a vote by University of Texas students against an immediate cease-fire in Vietnam.

The four state protests, orderly except at Stanford where students taunted a lone CIA official with jeers and shouts, brought a stern warning from University of California Chancellor Roger Heyns.

Heyns said that any U.C. student who interferes with "the safety or freedom of students or with interviews" will be placed under suspension and subject to dismissal.

The CIA and Dow Chemical, which manufacturers napalm, are scheduled to conduct job interviews next week at the Berkeley campus — the site of massive antiwar demonstrations last month.

Most of the 100 demonstrators at Stanford were members of the Students for a Democratic Society and the Resistance, an antidraft movement. Student spokesmen said interviewers from the CIA and war-oriented companies should be barred from the campus.

Dow Chemical also was the focal point of a demonstration at Fresno State College. About ing the war and 2,916 against. Another 387 said they were uncertain.

65 students walked in a large circle around the administration building where a Dow interviewer was talking with students as part of "Career Week" at the college.

At San Jose State College, some 30 students peacefully picketed the presense of two Navy Recruiters.

And on the University of California Santa Cruz campus, students protested the scheduled two-day visit of U.S. Air Force recruiters. The demonstration ended when the college announced the military visit had been postponed.

More than 100 students were charged with disturbing the peace at the University of Iowa when a demonstration against the presence of a Marine Corps recruiter touched off a kicking, shoving melee.

No injuries were reported but campus police called on some 50 city police to help make the arrests. The demonstration was staged by the Students for a Democratic Society.

About 300 University of Michigan students in Ann Arbor staged a sit-in at the administration building to protest the school's involvement in a $1 million counterinsurgency project in Thailand.

A few blocks to the south of Manhattan's West Side, students at Columbia College and the university's School of Engineering were voting strongly in favor of open recruiting by any organization.

A majority of University of Texas students voting in a campus election expressed themselves as against an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

Approximately 20 per cent of the university's 29,841 students cast ballots with 1,724 for halt-

New Location Asked For Shellfish Floats

A Balboa man has come up with a new location for a shellfish cultivation project on the west shore of Tomales Bay in the face of stiff opposition to an earlier plan.

Leland D. Christensen has applied to the Army Corps of Engineers for permission to anchor floats at two points just south of Pelican Point.

This location is about two miles north of a site near Sacramento Landing, a location suggested by Christensen in January for his project.

But this earlier application drew objections from 25 persons and organizations including boat owners, property owners, conservationists and Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Before the corps made a decision on the application, Christensen asked for more time to re-evaluate his proposal.

As in the original application, the floats, each 10 by 18 feet in size and protruding eight inches above water, will be anchored in the two areas.

The floats would be spaced 50 to 100 feet apart to prevent interference with fishing or the passage of small craft.

Deadline for objections, which must be filed in triplicate, is Nov. 30 and they should be addressed to the Army Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco.

Drug, Needle Case Is Halted

Complaint of possession of the drug methedrine and a hypodermic needle was dismissed against Deborah H. Russell, 19, in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ralph Thomas.

Thomas said there is insufficient evidence to try Miss Russell again. She and Bruce A. Tucker, 19, of Novato, were convicted on the joint charge Oct. 3, but a new trial was granted Miss Russell by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

Tucker, given 90 days in county jail and placed on three years probation, and Miss Russell of San Francisco were accused of having the items in a car on Highway 101 Sept. 1.

Tragedy Set By Students

The tragedy "Blood Wedding" will go on stage at 8 p.m. Nov. 17-18, played by members of the Sir Francis Drake High School Drama Workshop.

The play by Spaniard Federico Garcia Lorca will be produced in the high school little theater. It is the story of a girl forced by her father into marrying a man because of his good social position though she loves another.

Joan Diamond will play the bride; Steve Meechum, the groom; Marty McKeon, Death, and Kris Petersen, the Moon.

Burglary Counts Hearing Slated

Preliminary hearing for Steven W. Mitchell, 18, charged with two burglaries, was scheduled in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for 3:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mitchell, of 127 Ross Street, San Rafael, is accused of burgling Belvedere Villa Apartments in San Rafael Oct. 18 and Mac's Disco on Francisco Boulevard, also in San Rafael, Oct. 16.

He pleaded innocent yesterday.

Student Injured In Cycle-Car Collision

A 16-year-old Redwood High School student suffered minor injuries yesterday when his motorcycle was involved in a collision with a pickup truck at Lucky Road and Fifer Avenue, near Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol said.

David G. Slocum, of 30 Hacienda Drive, Tiburon, was treated at Marin General Hosptial for right leg bruises. Slocum was cited for not yielding. The truck driver was Robert H. Neville, 29, of 203 Coleman Drive, San Rafael.

Masked Bandit Robs Food Delivery Man

A Chicken Delight truck driver, Kevin Good, 18, was robbed at gunpoint yesterday by a man in a Halloween mask after Good returned to his truck following a delivery at 7:50 p.m. at 14 Apollo Road, Tiburon.

Good said the masked bandit was sitting in the truck and forced him to drive to the end of Apollo road, where he took $56 in receipts and fled on foot.

CALIFORNIANS NEED FEAR NO WATER LACKS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The bountiful water year of 1966-67 — highest in about 30 years — makes it unlikely that there will be any critical shortages for any California users in the 1968 year, the department of water resources reported.

As a result of state-wide precipitation that was 130 per cent of average, with runoff 155 per cent of normal in the major watersheds, the aggregate carryover storage in the major reservoirs is the greatest on record. The department said more than 16.6 million acre feet of water was stored in the major reservoirs as the new water year began on Oct. 1. This is nearly 70 per cent of their combined capacities.

This was 4.2 million acre feet more than was stored a year ago, 130 per cetn over the Oct. 1 average and 2.2 million acre feet more than the highest previous year.

Mock Ballot Hours Due For Changes

Several changes in the hours of a mock primary election tomorrow and Saturday were announced today by the Kennedy for President in 1968 Committee.

Booths will be open tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon in front of Scott Hall at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, and from 1 to 5 p.m. in front of 500 Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo, and in front of the county courthouse in San Rafael.

On Saturday, a booth will be manned from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in front of 701 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

The mock election, pitting Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-New York, against President Johnson, will be held throughout the nation.

Highway Patrol Asks No Freeway Stops

The California Highway Patrol appealed to motorists today not to stop patrolmen on the freeway to ask them to clear written mechanical violation warnings.

The notice, stating an equipment violation exists and requiring it to be corrected, may be cleared by showing the repair to patrolmen at a highway patrol office or at some location other than on the freeway, where it is unlawful to stop except for an emergency.

Sociologist To Conclude Mental Health Lectures

Dr. Ralph Lane, head of the department of sociology at the University of San Francisco will speak on "The Monster Force — Success" Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in San Rafael High School auditorium.

It will be the sixth and final lecture in a series on prevailing mental health problems sponsored by the College of Marin evening division and the Marin Association for Mental Health.

Speaking Tuesday on "Routes of Escape," Dr. William L. Lamers, Kentfield psychiatrist, considered Marin was making greater strides in providing authoritative information and public education about drug use than most other parts of the nation.

According to Nevada Christian of the Marin Association for Mental Health, Dr. Lamers praised a new text on drug use introduced into Marin County schools this year for the benefit of teachers and said it should be distributed among students and parents.

Rec Commission Sets Field Trip

Marin County Parks and Recreation commissioners will take a field trip this Saturday in North Marin to inspect Stafford Lake and the Marin County Airport areas.

The commissioners will gather at the home of Commissioner Elizabeth Davies of Novato at 9:30 a.m.

Pierre W. Joske, county director of parks and recreation, said the group will view recreational possibilities at Stafford Lake and the potentials for recreational activities at the airport in Novato.

It's Not Punch 'n Judy

Opera Pupi Is Brainchild Of Mill Valley Family

By ALAN JONES

When the curtain goes up on Opera Pupi in Mill Valley next Friday night, the audience won't see the usual sort of puppet theater. No jolly Kukla, Fran and Ollie, no "Lili" lightheartedness and no Punch and Judy slapstick.

Opera Pupi is "American Guignol," according to its creator Ralph Moreno. Guignol, originally a puppet character in some rather bloody French puppet plays, later became "Grand Guignol," the gory and macabre school of French theater.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PLOTS

In Opera Pupi, the Guignol is more psychological than physical. The plots, as summarized by Moreno, include a "satire on premeditated murder" and an illustration of the lifesaving role of greed.

The somber tone of the program notes is not reflected in Moreno's manner. Articulate and quick, he appears the most cheerful of men.

And he must be one of the busiest. Friday's program, to be seen at 8:30 p.m. at Brown's Hall as part of the Homestead Performing Arts Series, was put together from start to finish by Moreno, his wife, Catherine, and their 6-year-old daughter, Iana.

The program comprises seven plays, all written by Moreno, ranging in length from 55 seconds to a 22-minute modern version of "Everyman."

The Morenos are co-publishers of Hartmus Press, which has turned out six books over the past 10 years. The volumes, all written by Moreno, include four books of plays, one essay and a book of poems.

CHANCE CAREER

Moreno, who is reference librarian at the Mill Valley Library, got into puppetry almost by chance. Another amatuer printer, Joan Abelson, came to the library last year to put up posters advertising a puppetry class and Moreno jumped to enroll.

The class was never held. Arrangements fell through and it was cancelled. But for the Morenos it was too late — they had already started designing a stage and building puppets in the printing workshop.

Designing and building the stage and setting up the lighting took several months.

Helping with the lighting was Tamalpais High School student Chris Scott, who made the wiring connections. The lighting and filters are so versatile that the Morenos earlier this year gave a light show reminiscent of the Fillmore Auditorium or the Haight-Ashbury.

ROYALTIES PROBLEM

Moreno originally planned to adapt the work of well-known playwrights to puppet theater, but soon learned that royalties made it possible. So he began writing his own plays.

Making the puppets was no small chore either. A total of 38 puppets appear in the present program, 22 in one play alone — "Memory," in which the main characters are junk sculpture figures.

In the play, mankind abandons its memory, while memory "removes its own heart in self-defense against a humanity whose patterns of ruthlessness are unforgettable."

That summary from the program notes helps explain why Moreno says Opera Pupi "welcomes children but does not solicit them" for the audience.

Moreno's printing workshop looks like a mad scientist's lair. There is an astounding clutter of presses, type, old-fashioned cubbyholes, liquid rubber, bottles of plastic, fabric, books, paintings and a thousand things more.

Rubber-headed puppets in the making crown a row of bottles, while simpler two-dimensional cardboard puppets share a box on the floor. Other puppets are made of rubber balls, metal junk, cloth, papier-mache and other materials.

With 38 puppets in the program, obviously more than two voices are needed. The Morenos have tap recorded the dialogue with the aid of several friends.

Having pre-recorded dialogue does not diminish spontaneity of the plays, Moreno said. He and his wife make little changes in the action each time as they grow more familiar with the characters.

The Morenos handle all the puppets throughout the program. During the performance, Mrs. Moreno also handles the lights and tape controls, while Iana runs the curtain and backdrop projector.

And if all this sounds like enough spare-time activity, Moreno, for one, doesn't think so. Besides writing his next dozen plays, he is also negotiating for a third press — an offset model so the Hartmus Press can get back to producing books.

Since getting involved in Opera Pupi, Hartmus has been limited to printing for the theater — programs, handbills, tickets and posters. It seems that the Morenos can't kick either hobby.

THE ACTOR — Ralph Moreno of Mill Valley is the voice, thought and movement behind his puppet theater. He will have the aid of his wife and daughter in bringing to life the puppets for a performance at 8:30 p.m. Friday at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

PUPPET MASTER — Ralph Moreno forms a puppet head. He is librarian, writer, printer, puppet artist, turning out a large puppet population to people his plays.

Pearson To Give Fresno Lecture

FRESNO (AP) — Columnist Drew Pearson, the center of a controversy in California, will arrive in Fresno Saturday for a speaking engagement.

The furor began with a Pearson column charging Gov. Ronald Reagan had discovered and broken up a ring of homosexuals on his administrative staff.

Reagan denied the charges and branded them as "scurrilous lies."

Pearson said that "the facts in this case are incontrovertible."

Pearson is scheduled as principal speaker for the second in a series of Fresno City College lectures. He will speak at Madera High School.

Marin Voters Have Six Elections Nov. 7

Six elections in Marin County will be held Nov. 7.

North Marin County Water District will elect three directors from seven candidates. The board has five members. Candidates are Franklin Gustafson, incumbent; Arnold E. Heise, incumbent; Emil Renati, incumbent; George A. Amaroli, utilities engineer; C. R. (Dick) Fedrick, contractor-rancher; A. L. Gieleghem, utility financial examiner; and John M. Lane, supervisory utilities engineer.

For voters in the North Marin County Water District who also are in the Novato Fire Protection District, the joint ballot will include election of two directors for the fire district from a candidacy list of eight, and for a measure which would increase the number of members of the district from three to five.

Candidates for the two vacancies are Henry V. Alvernaz, incumbent; Joseph F. Silveira, incumbent; Charles P. Davies, retired business executive; Donald F. Donohue, theater owner; Harry Leff Jr., engineer; H. James Mumma, teacher; Richard W. Price, steamship bookkeeper accounting; and Lt. Col. Victor L. Wright, U.S.A.F., retired.

If the measure increasing the board membership carries, the additional two members would be appointed by the board.

Ballot for the water district for voters in the Olema-Point Reyes Station-Inverness area will have a measure to determine whether the district's resolution creating an improvement district to study methods of meeting water needs in that area and reimbursing annexation costs should become effective.

Voters in the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District will fill two vacancies from a choice of five candidates. Running for the five-member board are William E. Brook, incumbent; John E. Duckett, incumbent; Arthur B. Carpenter, retired building contractor; Anne M. Reagan, real estate broker; and Richard T. Tarrant, attorney.

Kentfield Fire Protection District will select two directors from three candidates for the three-member board. Candidates are Arthur L. Poganski, incumbent; William J. Williams, incumbent; and George W. Rust Jr., communications system representative.

Three persons are seeking two vacancies on the director's board of Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District. Candidates for the three-member board are Alfred A. Nannizzi, incumbent; Edward Simkins, incumbent; and Ralph A. Carey, engineer.

Bolinas Community Public Utility District, a merger last year of Bolinas Public Utility District and Bolinas Beach Public Utility District, will hold a special district initiative election on a single measure — whether to increase the board of directors from three to five members.

John F. Musser Jr., head of the county elections department, said official canvassing of the elections will be held by his office Nov. 13. Voting polls for the Nov. 7 elections are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

NEW DIRECTOR'S VIEWS

Believes Novato's Beauty Key To Future Planning

By THERON A. NEWELL

Novato is at a crossroads in planning.

It has grown large enough to realize the need for planning, but it is still undeveloped enough so that its future can be planned, according to Novato's new planning director, Mark Philip David.

A small man physically, David makes up for his size by the enthusiasm he has for his job. That job, as he sees it, is to save some of the beauty of the Novato area for future generations but still not hinder progress. He also can see the need of a long range plan for the development of the downtown area.

MARK PHILIP DAVID
New planner's views

JOB OF PLANNER

"The job of a planner is to get a working compromise between progress and esthetics," the new planner said.

"Novato offers a great opportunity because right now we can plan the type of development we will have on the slopes while the flat land is filling up. We can also plan to create the type of downtown area which the community wants," he said.

"The city must act as a guide for development so that the hills are not all cut up by the developer, and yet it should not hinder progress," he said.

He cited an example of a subdivider coming up with a plan for two narrow streets on a hillside, instead of one wide 40 foot street which would scar the hill. "The city should allow that plan to be used so that the hillside and trees would not be cut up so much," he said.

"We must devise methods and use our ingenuity to use the hillsides so that their beauty is not destroyed."

"Some developers have an esthetic sense, but most of them want to get the last dollar out of a development — not that I blame them," David said.

"There is a great opportunity in Novato to create a community identity and a downtown community," David said. "If the community gets a definite plan for what it wants in the future, the present generation might not see it, but the next generation will benefit from it."

David, who did a study of downtown Pawtucket, R. I., can see the need for a three part study of the downtown area of Novato.

"First we must study the physical area of the downtown core of the city. This must be followed by an ecomonic study and finally a traffic study," he said.

After all of these three phases of the study, it will be feasible to make a plan for the downtown area, according to David.

He endorsed the Novato Downtown Study Committee proposal to hire an outside consultant to make a study of the downtown area.

David said he fell in love with the wooded hills of Marin County while visiting friends in Lucas Valley in 1965. "There was nothing in my line available in the bay area at the time, so I took the first job and went to La Mesa," he said. The planner worked there for two years, awaiting a chance to move back to Marin County.

His career started in Wales where he graduated from the Welsh School of Architecture at the University of Wales in Cardiff. He has worked in Jersalem, Manchester, England, Ottawa and Hamilton in Canada, Providence, R. I., and Jamaica.

"Someone who knows how much I have moved around asked me how long I intended to keep the job here before I moved on. I told him I loved it so much here that I could die here," David said.

Quentin Escaper Captured After Purse Snatching

A San Quentin inmate who walked away from a minimum security area of the prison Oct. 28 ran into trouble last night.

Norman D. Fennell, 26, walked up to the window of a car just pulling away from a parking space near Broadway and Gough streets in San Francisco and demanded the purse of the woman driver, San Francisco police reported.

He got the purse and was fleeing on foot when stopped by patrolman, police say. Today he is in San Franicsco City Prison charged with suspicion of robbery, with a hold placed on him from the prison.

Fennell was serving a five years to life sentence for robbery in Los Angeles County. He was found missing from a dormitory outside the prison walls during a 3 a.m. bed check.

Heavy Duty Work For Grandmother

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Mrs. Maudie Thompson says, "I don't think work hurts anybody."

The 55-year-old grandmother drives a heavy truck-and-trailer rig hauling tons of crushed car bodies to scrap dealers around the state.

Dredging Work For Strawberry Faces Delays

Dredging on the Strawberry Channel will be postponed until Dec. 2, because the dredge owned by Shellmaster, Inc., contractor for the $19,400 Strawberry Recreation District project, will not be available until then.

J. Martin Rosse, district architect, also informed the district board at the regular meeting last night, that diking for dumping of spoils during the channel dredging process will take an additional 10 days.

In other action the board directed property manager George C. Lopes to have the area owned by the district on the east shore of Richardson Bay cleaned up after littering by summer picnickers. Trash cans are to be provided and "no dumping" signs posted.

Mrs. Danil Schillinger was hired as director of the summer swimming program for 1968. Mrs. Schillinger has directed this program for the past three summers.

The board agreed to allow boys in the fifth and sixth grades at Strawberry Point School to use the field at Strawberry Park during the noon recess, under school supervision.

Search Off In Drowning Case

The Coast Guard yesterday afternoon suspended the search for the body of Robert J. Gardner of Inverness, believed drowned when the boat he was on exploded and burned in Tomales Bay Tuesday night.

Gardner, 35, and three others on the boat jumped overboard when the boat, owned and operated by James N. Raptis of Inverness blew up. Raptis, his wife, Margaret, and Gardner's wife, Judy, swam to a moored sailboat after the blast at 7:45 p.m. Gardner could not swim.

Mrs. Judy Gardner, seven months pregnant, remained in good condition today in Marin General Hospital.

Only about 12,000 antelope roamed the United States in 1902, but now there are more than 500,000.

A Poison Scare Circulates Over Halloween Candy

A number of youngsters in the Santa Venetia area lost their Halloween candy yesterday when a false rumor of poisoned candy began circulating, causing adults to confiscate sweets collected by "begging."

The rumor first gained wide circulation when a parent telephoned to John MacPhail School in the San Rafael School District saying she had heard a radio report of candy covered with insecticide.

To make sure no such candy was eaten by youngsters, school vice-principal Mrs. Fabia-Ann Phillips confiscated Halloween treats youngsters had with them. From there the rumors of death and illness spread, carried by youngsters and mothers.

Hospitals and police agencies in Marin today reported no injuries or deaths from candy in Marin.

The rumor apparently started when a parent mis-heard a radio newscast referring to insecticide-covered candy reportedly in the Petaluma area.

Sausalito Yacht Club Again Hits Vote Reef

For the third time in two months, the Sausalito Yacht Club last night was turned back in efforts to win city authorization for a proposed expansion of its waterfront clubhouse.

The Sausalito Planning Commission, with only six of its nine members present, voted 4-2 in favor of a variance for the addition, but an absolute majority of five was required.

The yacht club got a 3-3 vote on the variance Sept. 6, and a 3-2 plurality Oct. 4. Last night Commissioner Robert L. Nissen and Chairman Alan D. Bonapart cast the negative votes. In favor were Roy Starbird, Walter Thomson, George C. Hoffman and Murray Smith.

The commission, weary of the case after three hearings, accepted Nissen's suggestion that a report go to the city council noting no "affirmative action" was taken. This would allow the yacht club to appeal the case to the council.

The addition, 15 per cent of the present yacht club area, was included in original building plans but was omitted for lack of money when the club was built. Since then, zoning of the area has been changed, making the use non-conforming. The yacht club can stay, but cannot expand unless a variance is granted.

Opponents of the club's request cited city efforts to keep waterfront views open and the recent defeat by voters of a plan to build a new library on the waterfront.

The commission, which had several split votes last night, also stalled application by Madden and Lewis Inc. to buils a 94-seat restaurant at Humboldt Avenue and Johnson Street, behind the Sausalito Post Office.

The commission approved a conditional use permit, 5-1, but voted only 4-2 in favor of a variance on parking. Bonapart and Commissioner Roy Starbird cast the negative votes on the parking.

The applicant originally asked that the parking requirement be cut from 23 to 13 spaces, and also sought approval of one space on the plan which was to be 17 feet long instead of 20 feet.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing Madden and Lewis, agreed before the commission voted to drop the request for 13 spaces and seek the variance only for the lone undersized space. Madden and Lewis then would make "in lieu" payments of $2,000 per parking space for the 10 extra spaces, as allowed in a new city ordinance.

Commissioners wrangled over whether in-lieu payment was proper, although City Mgr. George M. Patterson pointed out that the only issue in the variance was the one undersized space.

Both Bonapart and Starbird indicated they were voting against the in-lieu parking proposal.

Lawrence said he considered the standoff a denial and would act accordingly, presumably meaning he will appeal the variance to the council.

The Sausalito Planning Commission Also:

CIVIC CENTER — Directed Commissioner Norman Murdoch, who was not present, to give the commission's position on proposals for a civic center complex at next Wednesday's council hearing on the revised general plan. The commission will stand by its recent recommendations in the general plan, except for the waterfront library which was voted down.

The action stemmed from two letters from the Sausalito Citizens Council and the Sausalito Voters League, recommending the city study civic center sites and plans. Bonapart stopped attempts from the audience to discuss the proposals, saying discussion should come later at hearings.

HEIGHT — Unanimously denied a height variance sought by Fred DeCook to allow building a 43-foot-high duplex at 26 Woodward Avenue, wher the height limit is 32 feet.

FENCE — Approved a variance sought by Albert Couderc, operator of Sausalito Fuel and Ice Co., to put a 7-foot fence around a storage yard at 400 Caledonia Street.

LOT SPLIT — Approved a lot split sought by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Newbeck at 212 Cazneau to create parcels of 8,286 and 5,002 square feet. The Newbeck house is on the larger lot and a duplex is to be built on the smaller.

Critical Job Filling Report

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The City Civil Service Commission has been criticized by the grand jury for inability to fill a variety of jobs.

All three commissioners attended a special session of the jury Wednesday night and emerged saying questioning ranged from "unfriendly to hostile."

Commission president William Kilpatrick said immediate action will be taken on the jury's charge that the city is losing around $3 million a year to train job replacements because of poor recruitment practices.

Kilpatrick had said earlier that lowering of Civil Service requirements and standards was being considered.

CAREER WOMEN

Discrimination Exists In Top Jobs

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The employer says defensively, "but certainly we have lots of women on our staff."

The young woman at the other side of the desk asks, "yes, but how many women do you have in your management training program?"

The employer answers, "Well, very few."

And thereby hangs the picture of the discrimination and "patronizing attitude" many businesses and industries still have about moving women upward in jobs in line with their abilities and ambitions. The discrimination continues to exist, although women supposedly are emancipated, says a Barnard College senior who has researched the job market to produce the first career-oriented magazine for college women.

"THERE'S STILL PLENTY of spade work to be done for women in management and other high ranking jobs," says Arlene Van Breems, editor-in-chief of "A Woman's Work."

"In a way, it is like the discrimination the Negro faces, although this other one is on an even larger scale."

In interviewing employers on job opportunities for women today, Miss Van Breems found that many "diehards still feel that women are encroaching on man's world. I had some men say to me, 'What are you doing in my office'!"

"Some of them would comment they had a lot of women workers, then point to their secretarial program," she added. "If I asked about the women in their management training program, it became a raw subject."

BOTH WOMEN AND men who have succeeded in a variety of fields have contributed to "A Woman's Work," which Barnard will offer free to women undergraduates in colleges and universities across the country.

It is the first time this sort of publication has been prepared for women students, Miss Van Breems said, although various men's colleges such as Yale and Princeton have published career supplements.

The editor said she tried to broaden the appeal of the publication so that its findings would help guide high school students and women already in the job market or ready to enter it.

BACK FROM a glamorous stay at the Club Mediterranean on the Island of Moorea in Tahiti, are Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Silvestri of Tiburon. Mrs. Silvestri's brother and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. David Haag of Redlands accompanied them, while her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin S. Haag of Novato stayed in Tiburon with the two Silvestri children. The Silvestris enjoyed some small boat sailing and diving in the beautiful clear Tahitian waters. One day they chartered a tromaran and sailed the perimeter of Moorea.

A RECEPTION honoring Dr. and Mrs. Hyman I. Krongard of Mill Valley, who were married on Sept. 16 (She is the former Mrs. Anna Sheridan of Mill Valley) will be held Saturday from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard D. Rider of Mill Valley. Co-hostesses will be Mesdames Barton Shackleford and D. Murray Hammond. About 100 guests are expected to attend.

Dr. Krongard is head of vocal music for the Reed Union School District and organist and choirmaster of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

DRIVING through the beautiful conuntryside, the Robert Jenkinses of Mill Valley report, was the most enjoyable part of a trip to Europe. On Oct. 2 they flew from New York to Shannon, where they rented a car and drove through Ireland. From Dublin they flew to Glasgow, again renting a car to drive through Scotland, Wales and part of England. After an exciting week in London they returned home via Colorado Springs, Colo., to visit relatives.

Million Dollar Yuletide Ideas

DALLAS (UPI)—You can deck out your sweetie in a minichinchilla for $12,500, place a 24-carat spun gold wig atop her head for $35,000, whisk her away on his and her camels for only $4,125, you Yuletide swinger, you.

If that doesn't send visions of sugar plums dancing through her head, there's a $5 inflatable man she can set down next to her on the "his" camel, so people won't think she's without escort.

All this and more is in that delightful tome for swinging millionaires, the Neiman-Marcus 1967 Christmas giftbook. The fabled Dallas department store, which in the past has offered such off-beat presents as $50,000 personal submarines and his and her bathtubs, is dedicated to the proposition that ties, slippers and negligees are for the birds at Christmas.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Family Discourages Serviceman With Battles On The Home Front

DEAR HELEN:

I am 18 and in military service. I have a 19-year-old sister who lives at home with my mother. They write me separate letters each telling all the bad things the other pulls. They fight. Boy, how they fight!

When I come home on leave, I'm in the middle of their arguments. Mom tells me how lazy my sister is, and the dirty names she calls her. My sister tries to get my sympathy with stories about bossing and unreasonableness.

I love both of them, and I don't want to take sides. I tell them I won't listen, but they keep making me the middleman. What can I do? — DISGUSTED

DEAR DIS:

Tell these fighting hens you aren't Solomon and the only solution you can suggest is — separation!

You might also point out that a serviceman needs encouragement, not complaint, and you won't answer letters filled with carping, nor will you spend your precious leaves in this atmosphere.

Between flak on the battlefield and yak on the home front, I'd say you have a rough life, soldier. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you do with a younger sister who has a "What's in it for me?" attitude? If I ask my sister to do even a little favor, she gets her pound of blood. She can be going to the store, so I want her to pick up something for me. It's, "Lay a coin on me, pal." So I have to shell out 15 cents extra for ice cream. She'll make my bed — at a price. If I want a note handed to my girl friend — that's 10 cents.

The kid is practically a tycoon at age 10. And I hate to think of the day when her prices go up. — GOING BROKE

DEAR BROKE:

Why not start a "mutual assistance league," with your parents' firm help?

Kids brought up to expect coins for every little favor soon get the "gimme's," which make them as popular as a mousetrap in the cookie jar.

Your sister must learn that FAVORS are the best medium of exchange in family life. Money should be paid only when she is hired for an unusual "extra." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You sure guessed it right when you figured "Johnny" was putting you on, with his bragging about his many dates all being pushovers. He's high on dreams. Or else he has a harem of real dogs that nobody else would want.

I'm a 17-year-old male and would like to state that life isn't like that. A guy has to really toe the line to keep a girl friend who is worth keeping. Sure, it isn't hard to get a date, but you have to be a gentleman, or you won't take her out the second time! — DON

DEAR HELEN:

When a teacher finds somebody passing a note in class, do you think it's right for him to take the note away and read it to the whole class? And then send it home to your parents? — EXPOSED

DEAR EX:

No. I think the teacher should tear up the note in front of the class — before anyone reads it. — H.

BUTTONED DOWN STRATEGY

Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mother's March chairman of the March of Dimes campaign for Marin, outlines campaign strategy with two of her 42 area leaders, Mesdames Bonnie Raisin of Tiburon, left, and S. Bolivar Buckner of Sausalito. The planning took place at a kick-off coffee yesterday at the Bank of Marin conference room in San Rafael. (Fairfax Village photo)

BUSH VILLAGE

Couple Serving In Africa

Marin friends of the Richard Lehtinens will be interested to hear that they, as well as Susan Danford of Mill Valley, are serving with the Peace Corps in Niger, Africa.

Richard is from Santa Rosa and is a graduate of San Rafael High School and Sonoma State College. His wife is the former Laurie Oman, daughter of the Donald E. Omans of Mill Valley, who was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended Sonoma State College.

They were married last December and began the three-months' training program for the Peace Corps last April. They were sent to the St. Croix in the Virgin Islands for training and to the Island of Anguilla for special field work just at the time when the small revolution broke out there and were evacuated. They went by way of Paris to the new country of Niger, which was a French Colony until 1961.

They were stationed in a small "bush village," Aguie, about 300 miles from the Niger capital, Niamey. The village is named for the chief and has a population of 400. French is the official language of Niger, and most of the natives are Moslems.

Laurie and Richard live in a three-room banco hut constructed of mud and straw bricks, modernized with a bucket type shower draining through a hole in a cement floor.

Laurie works in the health program conducting, with the help of a native (Hausa) girl, demonstrations on sanitation, diet, health practices and prenatal and child care.

Richard is part of an agricultural co-operative organization. He spends much of his time on tours, horseback trips of several days duration visiting small villages and advising on problems of marketing and co-op organization.

The couple will be in Africa two years, the usual Peace Corps service period.

Artist Will Be Speaker For Meeting

A joint meeting Wednesday of the Mount Carmel Women's Club and Library Guild will feature Margaret Krebs, San Francisco artist, teacher and lecturer. The program will begin at 8 p.m. in the lower hall of the Mount Carmel School, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Krebs, a qualified scripture scholar, will lecture on symbolism and truth, using religious art works to illustrate her ideas. This is a return engagement for the artist, who has exhibited work competitively in Seattle and San Francisco.

Drugs And Youth Topic For Panel

"Drugs and Our Children" will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored by the four Parent-Teacher Associations of the Larkspur-Corte Madera school district at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 8 at San Clemente school, Corte Madera.

Dr. Sanford J. Feinglass, coordinator of Drug Abuse Education of the Marin County superintendent of school's office, will be a panelist with Sidney Stinson, undersheriff; Howard Clark, Larkspur Chief of Police; Beverly Schroder, school district psychologist and a representative of the Switchboard, Haight-Ashbury, San Francisco.

Donald Kreps, principal of Redwood High School will be moderator for the public meeting.

DR. S. J. FEINGLASS

School Programs Use Volunteers To Aid Children

Fall programs for helping children in Marin schools are underway and many can use volunteer aides in libraries, classrooms and on the playground.

Crippled or retarded children who receive special care and treatment are in programs where volunteers can work directly with the children.

Volunteer aides in central Marin public schools work in libraries, classes and on the playground or as resource people in music, drama, art and math. A great variety of jobs in voluntary organizations is available through the Volunteer Bureau of Marin. People interested in volunteering may call the Bureau for an interview appointment.

TaMar Unit To Present Style Lunch

TaMar Chapter B'nai B'rith Women will hold a fashion show luncheon at noon on Wednesday at Tiburon Tommies.

Models will be Mesdames Louis Abrams, Charles Bellach, Carter Cohen, William Falcon, Irving Schwartz, Gabriel Sugarman, Bernard Miller and Robert Glenn. Commentator for the show will be Mrs. Milo Kaplan.

Then you'll hear an informative talk by Merrill Lynch on the growing interest of women in investing—plus a revealing run-down on the current economic and market outlook.

We think this combination of fashion and finance is a natural. Women love clothes. And they're interested in building a financial portfolio too. For example, something like 51% of the country's shareholders are women.

J. Buscher Jr., Larkspur, will arrange for delivery of contributions. The proceeds of the sale will benefit the Sisters of the Holy Family.

Flavored Sausage

Add flavor to sausage when frying by sprinkling lightly with allspice.

Grease Fires

If grease gets hot enough to flare during cooking, don't pick up the pan or run with it. This fans the flames that then can blow back against you, your clothing or other flammables such as curtains and towels. Water will cause splattering and spread the flames. Turn off the heat and cover the pan with a large lid to smother the flames, advises the Greater New York Safety Council. An oven grease fire will extinguish itself when the heat is off and the door is kept closed for a few minutes.

Town & Country Village

The 3rd Annual Town & Country Village Art Festival is coming up Nov. 10, 11 and 12th so be sure to mark your calendar. This year's show promises to be better than ever, according to advance word from Village Manager, Jim Webb. Great pains are being taken to assure an outstanding exhibit for both artist and viewer. Be sure to bring the whole family to this show since it always includes works of art to delight all ages. Show hours are 1 P.M. to 9 P.M. each day.

Do see the new wrought iron bathroom hardware at THE GOLDEN CHERUB. These distinctive decorative items are available in "hot" pink or avocado (and black, by special order). They include towel bars in many inventive styles, facial tissue box covers, wastebaskets, soap dishes, back-of-the-door (or anywhere hooks) and a toilet tissue holder that looks for all the world like a candelabra . . . honest!

Some exciting news at LAILA'S (formerly "of Nasimo's") . . . those exquisite caftans of Laila's exclusive designs and fabrics are now available at such posh places as Lord & Taylor, New York, Sara Frederick, Boston and Palm Beach and Neiman Marcus. (Talk about "hitting the big time!) These diaphanous creations of pure feminine flattery make sensational at-home wear.

The HICK'RY PIT has thoughtfully provided the perfect Shopper's Luncheon Special. For 96c on Wednesday or Saturday you can have a bowl of really homemade soup and a choice of four kinds of sandwiches. Just right for a luncheon break while shopping in The Village. For those with a heartier appetite, HICK'RY PIT features a different Luncheon Special everyday for $1.25. This meal includes fresh vegetable, entree, potatoes, buttered roll and a beverage. When you consider how good their food is, these prices are pretty unbelievable.

Let's have a party, the kind where the hostess has fun too. No such thing? Then, dear, you haven't heard about L'ENTREE catering. Master Chef, Louis Reimers, will cater an elegant little dinner or a grand cocktail bash. Just discuss your plans and then let him take over and you can be assured of a memorable party for guests and hostess alike.

Both connoisseurs and novices will appreciate the wine selection at VILLAGE LIQUORS. If you are knowledgeable in this department, you'll want to start now to bolster your wine cellar for the holiday season. If your knowledge of "the grape" consists mainly of enthusiasm, then just ask Dan. He'll be glad to guide you through "the vineyards."

Would you believe a "fluffy" pom-pom of wax with a center wick and flat base that is a real, burnable candle. I'm not sure I would either, so you'd better see these Mexican wonders for yourself at FIESTA CANDLE SHOP. They come in marvelous South-of-the-Border colors and would add a festive highlight to any table setting.

The pampered pet around our pad doesn't think much of the rainy season, so MUTTS OF MARIN sold her a canine raincoat and boots. Three colors in the boots and several plaids to choose from in the coats . . . tres chic!

Run, don't dawdle, dear . . . CAPRICORN BOOKS is tossing a pre-Christmas sale that's just rather sensational! Until November 15th they offer 10% off the price of all hard cover books (including their beautiful, large gift books) and a glorious 15% off if you purchase your Christmas cards there too! The card selection here is most noteworthy, I think. They carry a number of albums not in wide circulation that feature "different" designs from traditional to funny. Another timely offer from CAPRICORN BOOKS . . . they will mail your gift purchase for you anywhere in the U.S. free of charge.

Lots of new dresses in at SUSAN'S FASHIONS. Alvin Duskin has designed some good-looking orlon knits . . . I especially like his brown and beige long sleeved sheath. Excellent selection of cocktail finery here, too, such as the smashing Silverworm number of shocking pink and black stripes of boucle-like wool-knit.

Something new on the dinner menu at KUBLAI KHAN. Filet Steak and Lobster with shoe-string potatoes for a mere $2.95. This dish sounds wonderful and, knowing the high quality purchasing done by Stanley Toy, I can't imagine he's realizing much of a profit on this new menu feature . . . but don't ask questions, just enjoy!

Now is the time for all good countrymen to come to the aid of the people who fight for them! Like, it's time to mail overseas packages and HICKORY FARMS OF OHIO is ready to help. They have several special gift packs planned just for servicemen and they guarantee safe delivery anywhere in the world! But don't forget, surface transportation for these gift packs to servicemen closes Nov. 11th. Now for your other gift shopping, HICKORY FARMS has posted a dandy chart that tells you just how long you can wait to ship anywhere in the world, includes the different United States mailing zones, too. These people are specialists in packing and shipping and, of course, you must know by now that it would be difficult to find more welcome gifts for anyone, anywhere.

ALBERTA OF MARIN carries what has to be the best collection anywhere of trimmings for Christmas decorations. She has marvelous ribbons and gilt braid, beads and sequins. In short, everything you could possibly want for stunning holiday arrangements.

Eee Gad, Grace . . . look what Lily of France has concocted! Coordinated bra, half slip and panties of beige nylon tricot with subtle floral designs that are found at the HOUR CLASS. So what's so great? . . . well, for one thing, they are very pretty, a bit sophisticated and for another, the nicely engineered bra is available in sizes up to a D cup. Most unusual for coordinates.

Family Fights Blamed In Gun Deaths Of Five

ABSECON, N.J. (AP) — A long series of domestic quarrels was offered today as the motive for a prosperous business executive slaying his wife and three children before taking his own life. He even killed a pet dog.

Police said Michael Belluscio, 44, apparently was tormented by repeated arguments and fights with his 40-year-blonde wife Mamie. The couple had separated several previous times, police said.

'NICE GUY'

Neighbors described Belluscio—a balding, husky 200-pounder—as a "nice, quiet guy," but said he had a short temper. Last April, police reported, he was fined $30 and given a 90-day suspended sentence for assaulting his wife.

The mass shooting occurred in the family's $40,000, 10- room colonial home yesterday.

Belluscio, general district manager for a bottling company in nearby Atlantic City, telephoned police Chief William Taggart and said calmly: "I just killed my family. I'm going to kill myself."

Then Belluscio put down the receiver and went to his upstairs master bedroom where he shot himself in the chest with a .22-caliber rifle, which he used to wipe out his family.

VICTIMS FOUND

Mrs. Belluscio was found on the floor in her bedroom and two daughters, Gina, 9, and Lisa, 6, also were shot in their bedrooms. Next to Gina's head was a framed poem she had written for Belluscio last Father's Day.

The two daughters were in bed covered with blankets.

A son, Anthony, 12, was found sprawled in a gold carpeted foyer, shot in the head attempting to escape the carnage. He was Mrs. Belluscio's son by a first marriage. Two other daughters by that marriage, Sheila Vasiliou, 20, and Cynthia Vasiliou, 17, live with a grandmother in Charleston, W.Va.

The couple, married 10 years, quarreled constantly over attempts to discipline Anthony, according to Mrs. Sally Georgi, a neighbor.

Bids Studied By Tomales Trustees

Six bids on the roof and ceiling work for the new Tomales high school will be analyzed by the school architect and a report given to the school district board at its Nov. 9 meeting, according to Supt. Anthony Matulich.

The bids were opened at the board's Monday night meeting. Bidding on the roof were: Inland Steel of San Francisco, $145,250; Rheem-Dudley of San Leandro, $83,655, and Rapp Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, $106,000. The bids for ceiling and light work were: Sono-Ceil of Oakland, $35,500; Shugart Co. of Glendale, $34,619, and Anning-Johnson of Burlingame, $24,980.

The board awarded a $78,700 contract to Bragato Excavating Co. of Santa Rosa, lowest of seven bidders, for the site work for the new school, Matulich said. The site is a mile and a half east of the present school on the Tomales-Petaluma Road.

The board named Harding and Associates of San Rafael as inspectors for the site work. The firm had been named soils engineer for the contruction job.

Richard Marshall of the firm of Marshall and Bowles, which is designing the new high school, reported that the plans for the school were progressing according to schedule.

The girl was charged with the possession of narcotics paraphernalia and was being held for her mother, police reported.

The boy was charged with truancy and released to his uncle who came after him. The boy had been reported as a runaway by San Francisco police, according to Novato police.

The couple was apprehended at the Gulf service station at Highway 101 and Olive Avenue. When they saw the police approaching, the girl ran into the women's rest room. Police later found a plastic box containing needles and syringes in the waste basket in the rest room, according to police. She later admitted that she had put them there, police said.

McInnis Urges Public Gifts For Auditorium

A call for public contributions to finance completion of the Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Marin Civic Center was sounded today by Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Speaking on radio KTIM's "Sounding Board," McInnis said "someone with drive and determination" is needed to organize a public subscription drive.

McInnis also believed that the county had "failed to interest a wealthy group" in lending financial help toward construction of the multi-purpose building.

Tuesday, the board of supervisors declared that second stage construction of the auditorium, estimated to cost $433,000, would have to be borne by public subscription.

Earlier, the board voted 4-1, McInnis dissenting, to redesign portions of the auditorium, saving $160,000. Additionally, supervisors transferred $200,000 from proposed Juvenile Hall expansion to help finance the first stage.

The actions were necessary because construction bids for the first stage ran $674,000 more than the county could afford for the building.

McInnis reiterated today he opposed the transfer of Juvenile Hall funds for the auditorium because future needs of the youth facility are unclear.

McInnis also said today he was against increasing taxes to complete the auditorium. Supporting him was W. P. Duhamel of San Anselmo, former county veterans' service officer and a director of Fair/Marin, which will operate the Civic Center fair-grounds.

Other speakers on the program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, were Aaron Green, an architect representing the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, designers of the Civic Center, and Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

Asked by a telephone caller what the county would do if new construction bids still exceeded available funds for the first stage, McInnis believed bids would be sought a third time.

"That would create a real problem," Campanella said.

McInnis said the sale of auditorium seats to individuals and groups would be one way to raise outside funds. It was mentioned that the San Francisco Opera House and Hollywood Bowl were built through public donations.

"Sounding Board" will be repeated at 9 p.m. today.

Player Taken

A $110 tape player and tapes were stolen from the car of Richard R. Miller at 400 Canal Street, San Rafael yesterday by a thief who used a wire to slip the inside door handle, said police. The glove compartment was forced open.

Seminarian Due Trial By Jury

Jury trial was set today for Nov. 29 for Robert E. Davisson, a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, accused of preventing San Francisco police officers from searching a church for a group of youths on Sept. 11.

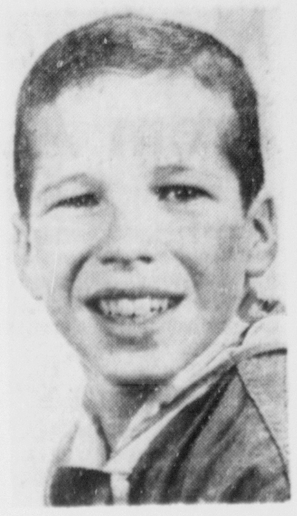
Davisson is charged with aiding and abetting persons suspected of petty theft after officers said he hindered their efforts to enter Olivet Presbyterian Church, San Francisco, when they were searcing for youths.

Trial was set for 9:30 a.m. in Department 11 of San Francisco Municipal Court.

Tot Just Cut In Driveway Accident

A Bolinas baby escaped serious injury yesterday when hit by his father's car backing out of the driveway.

Stanley Gray, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray of 2 Dogwood Road, was treated for a scalp cut at Marin General Hospital after the accident late yesterday morning.



EAGLE SCOUT — Richard Hagler, 13, of 345 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, will be installed as an Eagle Scout of Troop 59, Greenbrae Nov. 28 at a Court of Honor in the Redwood High School theater at 8 p.m. An eighth grade student at Kent School, Richard is a troop patrol leader and a member of the Brotherhood of the Order of the Arrow. Politics Roil Cosmetics, Suit Charges

San Rafael cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick has been sued for $1 million by one-time "Mr. America" Walt Baptiste.

Among other things, former muscleman Baptiste, a distributor of Patrick's Holdiay Magic cosmetics, claims Patrick is losing him sales by his political pronouncements.

In the past, Patrick, who once ran for governor of California, made statements that Chief Justice Earl Warren should be hanged for treason and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ought to be tarred and featherd.

Baptiste also accuses Patrick of breaking his promise to him that his cosmetics would be made of nuts, fruits and flowers.

"In truth and in fact" said the complaint, the mosmetics "were manufactured from ordinary cosmetic ingredients."

Further, Paptiste said Patrick was guilty of unfair competition by opening a Holiday Magic training school in San Francisco only a few doors away from one Baptiste and his wife, a former Miss U.S.A. runner-up, had opened their own.

$125,000 Asked For Injuries

A mother and daughter, pedestrians injured in a traffic accident in San Anselmo June 29, today filed a $125,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court.

Mrs. Lola L. Eastman, 42, of 34 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, and the daughter, Beverly Eastman, 20, of the same address, accuse the driver of the vehicle, Frank W. Loskot, 61, of 22 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, of negligent driving.

Loskot, a opstal worker, told San Anselmo officers he was blinded by the sun when the accident occurred at San Anselmo and Tamalpais Avenue intersection. Mrs. Eastman suffered left elbow injuries and the daughter, bruises and cuts.

Marinites Get Little Help From Assessment Roll Hike

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Twenty of California's 58 counties showed increases in assessed valuation for fiscal 1968 of over 10 per cent, and 16 of the 20 — including Marin — reduced their county tax rates.

Marin's reduction, however, was the smallest of the 16.

These facts emerge from new tabulations of county and city tax rates and county assessed valuations published by the California Taxpayers Association.

LAKE COUNTY

The greatest percentage increase in assessed valuation in any county was in Lake, where the total assessment went up 34.8 per cent — over a third. Lake County's tax rate was cut from $2.27 to $1.73 — a 54-cent cut, or somewhat less than a fourth.

Taxpayers got a better break in San Benito County, which cut its rate by 56 cents — the largest of any county — while assessed valuation went up 15.2 per cent.

In Marin, the assessed valuation increase was 10.9 percent, and the county tax rate was one-half cent — from $2.30 to $2.295 per $100 assessed valuation. That is a reductioin of less than one-fourth of one per cent.

BIGGER BILLS

That is one reason why most Marin taxpayers got bigger bills from County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez last month than they did a year ago.

Another reason is that many of the taxing jurisdictions within the county, while participating in the valuation increase, did not cut taxes at all.

Of Marin's school districts, for instance, only 11 reduced tax rates while 13 increased them.

Of the 11 cities in the county, two raised their tax rates, two reduced them, and the other seven left them undisturbed (thus garnering an average of about 11 per cent more in property tax dollars through increased assessments).

Of seven flood control districts, the tax rates of four were raised and of three, lowered.

Two community services districts raised their rates. One (Terra Linda) cut its rate by four cents. The other four left theirs unchanged.

Tax rates went down in four fire districts and up in four.

They declined in four sanitary districts, increased in one, and were unchanged in seven.

DISTRICT LEVIES

Thus, although the county reduced its tax rate by half a cent, the rate for any homeowner may have gone down pennies or up quite a bit depending on what districts levy taxes on his property. And the total tax he paid may have gone up much more than 10.8 per cent.

Nowhere but San Francisco is there one over-all rate. Even there, a few districts exist, but most property is taxed only by the City and County of San Francisco. Its assessed valuation this year went up 22.9 per cent (second only to Lake County in percentage, and of course far greater in dollars). The tax rate went down $1.81, from $10.61 to $8.80. That's a decrease in rate of about 17.4 per cent. South San Francisco property owners, like most others in the state, got higher tax bills than last year.

BIGGEST JUMPS

The counties with the biggest percentage valuation increases (aside from San Francisco), as listed by the California Taxpayers Association, were:

Lake, 34.8 per cent; Sierra, 19.2 per cent; Del Norte, 19 per cent; Calaveras, 17.3 per cent, and Alpine, 17.1 per cent.

The counties making the biggest reductions in tax rates made up quite a different list. They were:

San Benito, 5.6 cents (accompanying a 15.2 per cent valuation increase); Lake, 54 cents; Tuolomne, 38 cents (valuation up 8.2 per cent); Santa Cruz, 28 cents (valuation up 10.5 per cent), and Colusa, 24 cents (valuation up 9.7 per cent).

Session Is Set

The public relations committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will meet at the district office at the bridge toll plaza at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 10.

Burglars Invade Three Houses In Country Area

Three burglaries were reported yesterday by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said a house owned by Lois Verzuh on Glenside Drive, Los Ranchitos, was entered Monday by removing a bedroom window screen. Taken were a television set, a stereophonic set, and about 100 records.

Robert B. Brooks, 7 Cypress Avenue, Kentfield, told officers Monday that burglars slipped a bolt locking a living room door, then entered to ransack the home.

Stolen were two watches, a radio, and several books of trading stamps.

John L. Hergler, 145 Elm Avenue, Woodacre, told deputies Monday burglars forced a door at his previous residence near the intersection of Lagunitas Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Lagunitas, taking a kitchen table and two chairs.

Two Coeds Vie In National Test

Two San Domenico School seniors are semi-finalists in this year's National Merit Scholarship tests.

Mary E. Thomsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. Thomsen of San Rafael, and Elizabeth Tucker, daughter of Mrs. James M. Tucker of Piedmont, will compete to become finalists through a second test of scholastic ability in the next few months and by further endorsement by their school.

The girls at the school in San Anselmo are competing for scholarships against other high school students across the nation. Scholarships ranging from one-time awards to four-year payments are supported by businesses, service clubs, unions and foundations.

Police Back Classes

Children from 7 to 14 can sign up now for chess, track, archery or square dancing in the new youth program sponsored by the Mill Valley police reserves, Police Chief Dan Terzich has announced. Signups are at the police station.

Mime Troupe's Suit Dismissed

DENVER (UPI) — U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Doyle Tuesday dismissed a suit brought by the San Francisco Mime Troupe Inc., against the Denver school board.

The suit was brought about to force the board to let the California troupe perform its skit, "Civil Rights In a Cracker Barrel," in a high school auditorium. The board had refused its permission, citing a regulation that the board may deny such use when it is "in the best interests" of the school district

RADIO SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Paul Agazzi of Corte Madera examines all that is left of a radio after a $10,000 fire which gutted his home at 614 Manzanita Avenue yesterday. He and his wife fled the fire which, firemen said, began when vapors from a can of turpentine were ignited by a stove pilot light in the basement. Mrs. Agazzi was cleaning clothing at the time. The blaze traveled up the walls to the roof which had to be opened up. Water and smoke damage was also reported.

Trio Quizzed About Superspade Death

Marin sheriff's officers yesterday interrogated three persons—held by San Francisco police in the shooting of a convicted heroin peddler — in the August slaying and dumping of the body of William E. (Superspade) Thomas at Point Reyes.

The trio, Charles Schimmelfenning, 18, Daniel Marzec, 24, and Carolyn Shult, 22, had been identified from police gallery photos by the peddler, Russell Otis Williams, 26, as the group that kidnaped him in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco and shot him about 11 days ago.

He told Inspector William Bradford yesterday the three also mentioned the Superspade murder to him at one point during the kidnaping. Williams, a registered narcotics addict, was taken to a wooded area and shot in a backyard of a ranch near Forestville south of Santa Rosa in Sonoma County.

He staggered from the woods Monday and is at Sonoma County Hospital in critical condition.

San Francisco inspectors said they showed Williams a volume of the photos. Although he was too weak to talk at length, he nodded when they flashed the trio's pictures and indicated they were his assailants, the inspector said.

He then also told Bradford of the trio's mention of Superspade.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said today Inspector Kenneth Irving went to San Francisco, spending many hours questioning the trio.

He said they were interviewed separately, but it hasn't been determined if the three were involved in Superspade's killing, or have any connection with Marin County, Stinson added, however, that the trio has definitely not been ruled out of the murder.

The trio was arrested Saturday in a narcotics raid by San Francisco police. They were armed with at least three revolvers, said Stinson, including a .22-caliber gun. He said San Francisco police have sent the weapons for ballistics examinations.

Stinson said Williams will be questioned again when his condition permits, and that the trio also will be quizzed further.

Body of Superspade, a big-time narcotics dealer, was found Aug. 6 shot by a .22-caliber gun and trussed in a sleeping bag, at bottom of a cliff at Point Reyes. Site of his murder has not been established, however.

Children Flee Blazing House In Lagunitas

Two children, aged 3 and 4, saved themselves from certain death yesterday when flames engulfed the home where they were staying at South Cintura Avenue, Lagunitas.

Christopher and Robert Seebaver had been left alone by their mother, Mrs. Hoyland Seebaver, five minutes before Marin firemen were called to the two-bedroom frame house at 8:35 a.m., County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said today.

"When we arrived the place was well alight and neighbors told us the children were inside," said Bloom. "However, we found them crying in a nearby shed. It was fortunate they had escaped when they did.

The chief said the fire, which caused an estimated $10,000 damage, was under investigation. He said electricity to the house had been cut off previously and a gas fuel tank was empty.

The house was owned by a Woodrow H. Wilson and Bloom said the mother and her children were staying in the house while the tenant, Elden Velasco was away for a few days.

The lookout on Mount Barnaby in Lagunitas was the first to raise the alarm and smoke from the fire could later be seen as far away as Woodacre.

Mill Valley Youth Injured In Collision

William M. Crosby, 19, of 218 Cleveland Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for left leg bruises suffered when his motorcycle struck the rear of an auto at 2 p.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, south of Laurel Avenue, Larkspur, the California Highway Patrol said.

The driver of the car was identified as Carolyn A. Irwin, 35, of 18 Knight Drive, San Rafael. Crosby was cited for following too closely.

Hub Landowners Cool To Teen Club Search

Strong resistance and hostility from San Anselmo property owners is being found by a committee of the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission trying to find a location for a teen club, it was reported last night.

Frank L. Quinn, director of parks and recreation, told a group of teen-agers as well as members of the commission, that he had contacted 17 owners of property in San Anselmo which might be suitable for such a center.

"In most cases the owners wanted nothing to do with a teen club," he said. He added that he still has two or three prospects for a location.

Teen-agers and commissioners present at the meeting adjourned to the Third Rail Teen Club, an organization sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, so that the adults might observe this type of activity. The meeting had started in the city hall.

The teen-agers, who represented Drake and Marin Catholic high schools, voiced their desire to have a drop-in type of club rather than large organized dances, according to Commissioner Paul Brand.

The committee was established on a permanent basis last night with the aim of getting such a center into operation, Brand said. Adult members include Bruce Belknap, adviser to the Third Rail Club, Commissioners Walter Anderson, Robert England and Brand and Quinn. About 12 teen-agers are also members.

Meeting Postponed

The Point Reyes School District board did not hold its regular meeting last night because of the illness of George E. Nunes, board president. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the school, Nunes said.

Fired Coach At Academy Plans To Sue

John Tagliaro, fired last week as assistant coach at San Rafael Military Academy, announced today he is bringing suit against the academy and the Episcopal Diocese of California for breach of contract and conspiracy to breach contract.

Tagliaro said his letter of dismissal, effective immediately last Wednesday, from Benjamin Palmer Clark, superintendent of the academy, gave no specific reason for the abrupt dismissal.

Tagliaro, who formerly lived in Larkspur and coached Pop Warner League football teams, was hired as physical education teacher and coach at the military academy when Coach Larry Fulton was abruptly fired last year.

Charles Tubbs, a retired army sergeant, was made athletic director at the opening of this year's term, with Tagliaro as assistant.

Tagliaro was defense coach for the academy's football team, which won its first victory of the year last Friday — two days after his dismissal — defeating Lick-Wilmerding 32-0.

"The boys mobbed me after the game and told me, 'We won this one for you,' " Tagliaro said.

His suit seeks $5,675 for breach of contract — the full amount of his teaching contract for this year — plus $25,000 compensatory damages. It charges the Episcopal diocese, which owns the school, conspired in the firing.

Gordon C. Wright, San Francisco attorney representing Tagliaro, said the suit would be filed in Marin Superior Court early next week.

Tagliaro is the second faculty member to depart from the academy within three weeks. Rev. Wade Egbert, former dean of the academy, resigned two weeks earlier.

Drug Expert Decries Possession Penalties

By DON BRANNING

SAN FRANCISCO — There should be no law against the possession of any drug for personal use, a drug expert told a California Assembly committee today, because the laws make people afraid to seek treatment.

Dr. David Smith, of the San Francisco Alcohol and Drug Abuse Center and the Haight Ashbury free medical clinic, told the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee that the present laws are actually increasing drug abuse.

Dr. Smith said he believed there should be no relaxation of criminal penalties for those who sell the drugs.

Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, the 58-year-old school teacher who was fired from her job as principal of Nicasio School when she admitted smoking marijuana for 18 years, was to be a witness before the committee later today at the start of a two-day hearing in the State Board of Education hearing room.

Also scheduled to testify from Marin County was Hugh Hinchliffe of Mill Valley, coordinator of the committee that recently collected nearly 2,000 affidavits from supporters of marijuana smoking.

W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, chairman of the criminal procedure committee, indicated at the outset of the hearing that the committee will be seeking better ways to educate people on the dangers of drug abuse, rather than extension of the criminal penalties.

"We have been increaing the penalties and it hasn't worked," Biddle said. "I think it's a little early to say which direction the committee would take in regard to marijuana, but any legislative recommendations would more than likely in the direction of giving the judge more discretion in the assessment of penalties."

Dr. Smith also testified he believes the elimination of penalties for drug possession "would significantly decrease drug abuse in California."

Woodacre Man Surrenders On Child Stealing

A 26-year-old man surrendered himself last night on a felony complaint of stealing a young girl from her San Geronimo Valley home.

Booked in county jail and scheduled for arraignment this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court was Allyn Leroy Coon, of 137 Centro Way, Woodacre.

He is accused of taking the 16-year-old girl with him to Olathe, Colo., on Oct. 26. Sheriff's Deputy Weldon Travis and Lt. Harvey E. Teague said the two returned to Marin from Colorado last night, and Coon surrendered himself after learning of a warrant for his arrest.

He was held in lieu of $5,500 bail.

Teague said the girl left her parents' home and she and Coon went to Elko, Nev., then on to Colorado. He said Koon has a wife and three children.

Car Caravan Set To Delano

Marin Labor Council delegates last night heard a report that representatives of unions in Marin will form a car caravan to Delano Nov. 18-19 to take donations of food and clothing to striking grape workers.

Strikers also are being given about $500 monthly from donations of Marin unions volunteering through the labor council, said council secretary-treasurer James A. Smith of Fairfax.

Boom In Valuations; No Matching Tax Cut

California's booming economy is reflected in the annual tabulation of assessed valuations of counties which has just been published by the California Taxpayers' Association. It shows that statewide, assessed valuation of property for tax purposes went up 8.6 per cent.

Marin's was a little higher — 10.8 per cent.

For some years now, there has been a steady increase in Marin property values outrunning general inflation as reflected in federal cost-of-living statistics. In 10 years, the county's assessed valuation has more than tripled — from $177,158,711 in 1957 to $534,516,696 this year.

IT MIGHT BE ASSUMED that, with greater taxable wealth per capita, tax rates could be quite sharply reduced. However, they have not been. Marin County's tax rate in 1957 was $2.32 per $100 assessed valuation. This year it is $2.30. In between it has varied up and down.

The California Taxpayers' Association tabulation shows that there is not necessarily much relationship between what a county's assessed valuation does and what its tax rate does.

This year, every county except Sacramento showed an increase in taxable assessed valuation. Sacramento County's dropped by .1 of one per cent — likely due to too much property being taken off the tax roll by the government.

However, only 31 counties reduced their tax rates. One left the rate unchanged. Twenty-six increased their rates. (Marin was among the 31 reducing the rate, cutting the county levy by one-half cent.)

MOREOVER, with the exception of San Benito County — which reduced its tax rate 26 per cent while its valuation went up 15.2 per cent — none reduced the rate commensurately with the increase in valuation.

In fact, some of the counties with the highest increases also hiked tax rates.

THERE IS ANOTHER trend in California that, on the face of it, should contribute to reduction of county tax rates.

According to another of the California Taxpayers' Association's valuable tabulations, the percentage of the state's residents within cities has increased from 70.9 per cent in 1960 to 72.8 per cent this year.

It would seem that this would mean a greater load on city governments with a slight easing of the load on the counties.

If it does, however, most of the cities seem to be able to handle it without raising tax rates. Of course, they too participate in that 8.6 per cent overall increase in state valuation.

The taxpayer group's tabulation shows that 91 California cities reduced tax rates this year, 78 increased them, and 222 left them unchanged.

THE LARGE PERCENTAGE of unchanged ctiy tax rates may indicate something else: the deplorable lack of interest in city taxes by city residents.

County supervisors can pretty well depend on hearing from plenty of special interest groups who want special programs at county expense—all adding to the load on the taxpayer. And, though the ordinary citizen rarely shows up for the budget hearings, he will be heard from when he gets his assessment notice. Since the counties handle virtually all assessing in California, they are the ones who hear these squawks.

ON THE OTHER HAND, once a city has established a tax rate, it can quite easily maintain that rate without much outcry — even this year when increases in state taxes provide new sources of city revenue. Nobody shows up at the city budget hearings.

The city's tax take then goes up in lock-step with the valuation increase.

It might be well to remember this next May when your city council schedules budget sessions.

The Fall Cleanup

Except for the fuchsias, the chrysanthemums and a few other faithful flowers, Marin's summer plants have bloomed out and grown leggy, dead or dying. Masses of garden rubbish to be disposed of.

We rather enjoy this fall garden clean-up. For one thing, unlike so many garden tasks, it requires little skill and there is scant chance of failure. We can just tear into it and pull, pile and burn.

The result is a satisfying neatness, complete freedom from anxiety, and much healthful exercise.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Don't Use Police For Whipping Boys

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have always had the greatest respect for the Independent-Journal and considered it far superior to the morning "rag" that is published in San Francisco; however, I was disappointed in your headline the first day of the demonstrations in Oakland. Using the police departments for whipping boys is something to be expected from San Francisco, and a heading referring to the police using clubs and tear gas I felt was a bit beneath your dignity. The demonstrators had ample warning to clear the area and failing to heed the warning were in effect obstructing the law.

As for the complaint by the correspondent from Corte Madera, if he and his associates feel that they deserve special treatment, they are wrong. The police had a job to do and it wasn't a pleasant one, and anyone obstructing them in performing their duty must suffer the consequences. The police don't have the time in a situation such as this one to check each person who claims to be with the press. Fortunately one correspondent from Oakland who received rough treatment was honest enough to admit that the police were in the right. A little more candor on the part of other members of the press would be greatly appreciated.

Prior to our entry in World War II and during the Stalin-Hitler pact, pickets paraded in Washington before the Capitol urging the United States to stay out of the war in Europe, that it was an European matter and not for our involvement. Mobile Home Sites Needed In Marin

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We have read with considerable interest the several items recently apeparing in the I-J pertaining to the proposed establishment of a mobile home community at Novato.

Our interest stems from our hope to spend our retirement years in Marin County where we find the ideal weather, smog-free atmosphere, interesting topography, natural beauty, quaintness, and close proximity to ocean, bay and river especially appealing to our individual preference for boating and fishing.

Our investigation, over a two-year period, indicated to us that mobile home living provides a logical and practical answer when applied to our specific situation.

Several months ago I corresponded with a Novato realtor regarding the availability of rural residential property on the Lucas Valley Road between Marinwood and Nicasio for the purpose of establishing thereon a mobile home for retirement use. The reply indicated that Marin County ordinance forbid such action.

We were further dismayed to learn, on subsequent trips to the area, that there does not exist in Marin County what we would regard as a decent mobile home community . . . A mobile home community is not a trailer park, yet there continues an unfortunate tendency to liken the two. Herein lies the source of opposition to the mobile home community.

Certainly no one, in all good conscience, can question the well-intentioned deliberations of the Marin County Board of Supervisors in their endeavors to arrive at a correct conclusion regarding the application now pending before them for authority to establish a mobile home community at Novato. We would suggest, however, that before they decide against the petitioners the board visit in body Moon Valley mobile home development at Sonoma to assure themselves that such a community, properly regulated, can be a tremendous asset to Marin County.

Former Resident Assails Sponsorship

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is with great interest that I read a small article in the Oct. 18 I-J concerning San Geronimo and G I morale. The clip was sent to me by a San Rafael friend because I have a son serving in Vietnam, and for many years lived and worked in the San Geronimo Valley. If fact, I was a director of the esteemed association at one time.

At this point, let it be said that Mrs. Winifred Frederick and her friend Jean Bevans and other "good" people of the valley might help home-front morale by leaving local poverty workers alone and in general behaving themselves. I served the school district for many years in that community and it is with great regret that I feel compelled to speak out now. . .

Just for once, Winnie, let some one else run the show.

Inductees Have No Civil Rights

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Patricia Gerstner, in her letter about anti-draft demonstrations, published Oct. 26, asks: "What about the 'civil rights' of the inductees and personnel that must have ingress and egress to a building?"

Well, that's just the problem. Inductees and enlisted personnel have no civil rights. Their rights to make the most moral decisions are taken over by the government, and this is exactly contrary to the central thought of our Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution.

Rockefeller No Longer Bogey To Conservatives In GOP

WICHITA, Kan. — "Rocky doesn't scare us anymore."

This is not the defensive retort of Nixon or Reagan men who can't escape the feeling that this time the governor of New York may get the Republican presidential nomination without seeking it.

It's something quite different and surprising.

It's the phrase that best describes the response of many Republicans, mostly conservatives, with whom I have talked on this reporting trip through the Midwest.

ONE FINDS LITTLE active advocacy of a Nelson Rockefeller nomination, but what one does find is a wide change in attitude toward him compared with 1960 and 1964.

Almost entirely absent is the sharp hostility and quick condemnation of Rockefeller as a Republican "radical" which came from so many in the GOP ranks.

Not that there is any great groundswell for Rocky in this part of the country. But there is something that seems politically significant — a remarkably relaxed, even friendly, acceptance of the possibility that the man who was most disdained by conservatives might emerge as the nominee.

Furthermore, this attitude does not rest on the feeling that it is so inconceivable he could get the nomination that such a "danger" doesn't even have to be faced.

IT DOES HAVE to be faced and is being faced with unexpected equanimity. It comes as Rockefeller is moving up in the opinion polls and is a solid No. 3 among the candidates most favored by Republican voters—and this is while he is faithfully working for Romney's nomination and discouraging support for himself.

This new degree of tolerance, if not tranquil acceptance, of Rockefeller as the possible 1968 nominee apparently rests on three factors:

1—He has wide experience in national and international affairs. He has held high positions in the federal government over a longer period than even Vice President Nixon. He has served three Presidents—Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower—in war and peace. He knows personally most of the heads of foreign nations. He is intimately familiar with the federal government—from the inside.

2—Rockefeller has had wide administrative experience as the three-term governor of New York.

3—Most alluring of all is that Rockefeller is beginning to emerge as the Republican candidate who would, in the minds of many, be a nearly certain winner over President Johnson.

THE EVIDENCE of Rocky's vote appeal keeps accumulating. For example, a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket shows a commanding lead over Johnson-Humphrey. In some polls Nixon and Romney in separate trial heats against the President win narrowly over LBJ and in other polls lose narrowly. But in the latest Gallup Poll Rockefeller runs 14 percentage points ahead of Johnson.

No other Republican has come near to such a lead.

ON THE DAY I arrived in Wichita, Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Conference of the House of Representatives—the man who shaped the Goldwater platform in 1964 — addressed a party fund-raising dinner here. In his press conference it obviously did not wrench his conservatism to foresee that the choice for the GOP nomination would likely narrow to Nixon and Rockefeller.

There is no doubt in my mind that Rockefeller will back Romney just as long as Romney is a serious contender. But if Romney continues to falter, then Rockefeller will have to decide whether to let his supporters really go to work in his own behalf.

The big thing Rockefeller has going for him is that many conservative Republicans would so much like to defeat LBJ that they would accept Rocky to do it.

U.N. Course May Peril Future Of S.W. Africa

By PAUL SCOTT

WALVIS BAY, South-West Africa — As it appears from this end of the world, the United Nations has chartered a course on South-West Africa as deadly to its future as mariners have found this territory's dangerous "skeleton coast" for more than a hundred years.

Any effort by the U.N. to try to extend its control over this semi-arid land by military force could easily become just as treacherous for that international organization because of the defiant people and the land's protective natural barriers.

SOUTH AFRICA, administering this strategic 316,000 square mile territory under a mandate given it by the old League of Nations, is ready to fight either a verbal or shooting war to hold it.

As described by the territory's Administrator W. C. du Plessis, former ambassador to the U.S. and the U.N., South-West Africa is the left flank of South Africa and cannot be allowed to fall into unfriendly hands.

Ambassador du Plessis, like most other officials here, believes the future of South-West Africa will be decided by its 600,000 people — not in the United Nations, where members are debating whether to use force to extend U.N. control over this land of endless speckled sand and brush.

Previously, the U.N. General Assembly decided that South Africa has violated its mandate over South-West Africa and had therefore forfeited the right to administer the territory.

IN CRISS-CROSSING South-West Africa by plane and car to visit black, colored, and white settlements in and near a half dozen towns and cities, one finds few of the people favoring U.N. rule.

The vast majority, or more than 85 per cent, of this territory's residents (505,000 blacks and coloreds, and 95,000 whites) favor the continued close relationship and administration by South Africa.

IN RECENT MONTHS Chinese and Russian agents operating from Tanzania have been sending native terrorists into South-West Africa via bordering Angola. Thirty-six of these terrorists, cought by South African police patrols as soon as they entered the country, are now in trial in Pretoria.

Recently arrived off the west coast are two large 10,000-ton Soviet ships. Photographs of these vessels, which are definitely not fishing boats, show a large helicopter landing port on their stern.

THE SPECULATION by S.W.A. authorities, who have not yet released the photographs to the press, is that the helicopters are being used to drop agents and terrorists in remote areas in this territory's wild northwest sector.

It is the belief here that the Russians are trying to force the U.N. to intervene by stirring up terror incidents. If a number of these can be made to look like an internal rebellion, the Russians believe the U.N. will give in to mounting pressure of the Afro-Asians for military action against South-West Africa.

South-West Africa is a land twice the size of California or almost as big as France and Italy combined.

FAMILY BONDS

One enjoyable way to span the communication gap in family life is to develop a shared interest in music.

No one seems to know how many families in the United States have two or more musicians, but the number is increasing, according to the American Music Conference. In all, a record 37 million individuals play musical instruments.

"Parents who play with their youngsters set good examples — not just of musicianship, but of honest enthusiasm," says a report of the AMC.

Parents who share a musical interest with their children find that it is not only worth it, but that it can be real fun.

By strengthening the bonds of family life, fathers and mothers build bridges of communication and pathways to the future.

God's blessing rests upon those who help others to a deeper appreciation of the wonders of His creation and who develop their latent abilities.

TRY AND STOP ME

Who fancied himself quite a shique.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By DON BRANNING

Stone Walls Do Not Prison Make –Or Do They, For Wardens Too?

Wonder if the wardens at San Quentin ever wonder how much less the prisoners of the prisoners they are than the prisoners are prisoners of them?

It's a very odd sort of monastery. The man from the Kinsey Institute dropped by recently to make his regular pickup of pornographic drawings and writings done by convicts.

"It's not much different from the pornography you can buy on the outside," said Associate Warden James W. L. Park, who keeps it in a cardboard box for the Kinsey man. Park says he hasn't read it all. "I did notice in the writing that there seemd to be a certain number of robberies and other crime mixed in with the pornographic activity, whereas the stuff that's sold on the outside doesn't have any crime in it . . . I don't know what the Kinsey people do with it. I have a feeling that they have a great hoard of it back in Bloomington, Ind., that they will never be able to look at."

PARK IS AN interesting man, at least as complex in his attitudes as some of the prisoners, and some of their attitudes toward life are indeed very complex. Park started out as a clinical psychologist, worked for several years in the Veterans Administration hospitals.

"I never had any real desire to practice as a psychologist, listening to people and their sniveling problems all day long," he says. "The VA hospitals were a gray, dreary world, people who didn't really want to change."

He seems to have found a job that suits his nature. The ideal of locking people up who commit violence to society satisfies the moralistic conservative side of his makeup. At the same time, talking about the convicts, he often betrays a deep interest in them, remaining a psychologist at heart.

PARK LEADS SOME of the regular Thursday afternoon and Saturday afternoon tours of San Quentin. They are open to the public. They show you the bright green little gas chamber. It's octagon shaped, old fashioned, even Victorian looking. Confronted by it, people blurt out odd questions. As if he had to find some good in it, one man on a recent tour expressed an interest in the relative efficiency of gas, hanging electrocution and shooting. He seemed satisfied when the guard told him gas is quickest.

R. E. Boyd is one of the guards, a retired soldier, and he also takes the tourists through. Boyd is unarmed (only the guards on the gunrails are armed) and San Quentin is more dangerous than the street. There have been seven murders, 40 attempted killings there this year. Boyd is probably tougher than the average inmate, but his only weapon is a whistle on his shirt. "What would you do if there was a riot here right now?" a member of a guided tour asked him. "I'd blow hell out of this whistle," Boyd replied.

THE PRISON IS SUNNY, but very old. Parts of it were built as early as 1852. The small yellow bricks of the old buildings, built before Lincoln was president, add a touch of antique sadness to the prison yards. It has been a sad place, for men rejected by the world, for a long time.

San Quentin's sunny lawns have some of the most beautiful roses in California, blowing in the sunlight. They are enormous, every variety and color. Men confined everywhere seem to grow roses, proving, perhaps, what Yeats said about them so often, that they are the flower of Eros.

The guided tour goes through one of the cellblocks. The cells in the older buildings are small and narrow, about the size of a Pullman berth. They are all the home that each man has. In one of them some paintings done by its occupant, a couple of loving cups the painter won, some cards stuck up on the wall: "For Your Brithday, Sweetheart" and "To Say I Miss You."

"MOST PEOPLE," said Park, "think of prisoners as being violent, dangerous types. We have a few nuts in here, but it's only about 10 to 15 per cent of the population that are the troublemakers. Immaturity is the outstanding characteristic of convicts, not violence.

"What do we try to do here? Well, the first thing is to keep them in here, inside the walls. People don't change basically, seldom. All we can do is to try to get them in some kind of shape so that when they leave here, there is a fair chance of their not coming back."

Education In Poverty Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — School authorities are launching a "catch up" program aimed at improving education in San Francisco's poverty areas.

Tests have already showed that kindergarten pupils who attended pre-kindergarten classes did better in reading readiness exams than youngsters who did not get the special schooling. School Supt. Robert E. Jenkins said yesterday.

The program was more beneficial for Spanish-speaking and Chinese - speaking youngsters than for Negroes.

Skyhooking Downed Pilots Being Tested By Air Force

EL CENTRO (UPI) — The Air Force is testing a method of rescuing pilots while they are still floating to earth in their parachutes.

The new system, which could prevent fliers from falling into enemy hands, is being tested at the El Centro Naval air facility on the Southern California desert.

A spokesman described the system yesterday as a type of "skyhook" operation.

After the pilot of a disabled aircraft ejects, two parachutes open, one the main chute and the second an "engagement drogue" chute. The two parachutes are separated by about 75 feet of nylon line.

The rescue plane is equipped with two poles with hooks on them which extend from a hatch in the plane. The pilot of the rescue plane aims for the line dividing the two parachutes and engages it with the hooks on the poles.

The change in direction causes the chutes to collapse and they, along with the flier, are hauled up and into the rescue plane.

Judge Applauds War On Poverty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The War on Poverty is beginning to work in the Bay Area, says Judge Joseph G. Kennedy chairman of the Economic Opportunity Council.

He said yesterday that the federal program has improved the lot of many poor people despite growing pains of the EOC, which have "bordered on pandemonium" at times.

Negroes are now rising above the poverty level in San Francisco at about the same rate as Caucasians for the first time, the judge observed.

Lyons Sets The Record Straight On 50 Years Of Soviet 'Freedom'

In any arena competition, friendly or lethal, it is wise to know something of the modus operandi, the wiles and stratagems of your opponent. That is why football teams scout each other, and why Russian "fishing boats" linger along routes our troopships follow as they head for Saigon.

That is also why I have just read twice over Eugene Lyons' "Worker's Paradise Lost." And I would urge you to go and do likewise, especially at this time.

For the USSR dictatorship is about to celebrate its 50th birthday, and Lyons' book will prove an antidote to the great propaganda barrage to which we'll be subjected. In almost religious pomp and pageantry, Communist hallelujahs will be wafted to the Holy Trinity of Marx, Lenin and X, from whom all Soviet blessings flow.

(X, unlike Marx and Lenin, has no tenure. The third man on the totem pole was originally Stalin, but he fell from grace and Nikita took over; and when Nikita's halo dropped off, it was picked up by Kosygin. Subject to change without notice.)

NOT ONLY the satellites but many of the democracies will send birthday greetings to the cruelest dynasty of modern times, and wish it long life and happiness. Just so, they tell me, did many Chicago officials make it a point to pay their respects to Al Capone.

The undeniable Soviet conquests of space will be played to the hilt; and the might of the Soviet army will be fully exploited. But there will be no mention of the relentless crushing of the human spirit by the Soviet monolith from its start to this very day when the latest USSR missiles go to such Mafia members as Ho and Nasser. You'll have to go to the authoritative facts and figures of Lyons for that.

Pravda will boast that the takeover of the night of Nov. 6-7, 1917, was a people's revolution, led by the Bolshevist founding fathers. But Lyons will remind you it was actually a counterrevolution, against the genuine revolt of the Russian people. For Lenin was in Switzerland when the czar was overthrown, Trotsky in New York, and Stalin in exile in the hinterland.

Tass will not note that, even with the first free election, the Bolshevists won only 25 per cent of the ballots and that when the newly elected delegates to the Constituent Assembly met, they found that admission tickets had been issued only to the Bolshevists. Nor will Izvestia record this was both the first and last session of the Assembly.

ON NOV. 8, the Bolshevist reign began with a decree abolishing capital punishment —and simultaneously started an orgy of executions, an orgy that has never stopped.

So, seeing where we stood 50 years after 1776, I'll continue to do my revolutionary celebrating on July 4, thank you, and regard Nov. 7 as a day more fitted to mourning.

And for history, I'll take Lyons instead of Pravda.

Tomales Unification Plan Again Emerging As Committee's Choice

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night appeared headed toward a proposal for overall unification in the Tomales High School District.

The committee hasn't officially closed the door on other proposals, but it didn't leave it open very wide.

Mrs. Watson Conner, committee chairman, said there didn't seem to be anything the committee, pressed for time, could do except recommend Tomales unification.

REJECTED EARLIER

The overall Tomales unification plan, which has been rejected four times by the State Board of Education, would unify the Tomales High School District with its component elementary districts, West Marin, Point Reyes, Tomales Bay, Bodega Bay and Watson.

However, Mrs. Conner, said she didn't want to take just the overall Tomales proposal to a public hearing at 8 p.m. Nov. 15 at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station.

There are people from outside the Tomales District who have expressed a wish to become a part of the district, and the tentative proposal should be "kept open" for the hearing, she said.

PETALUMA OUT

The committee thus left at least an ear open for any proposal, involving Tomales elementary districts in the Tamalpais High School District, Lagunitas, Nicasio or Bolinas-Stinson.

Proposals involving the Petaluma High School District were ruled out. An additional proposal by Committee Member Jack L. Mengel, involving Novato Unified School District, got a cool reception.

Mengel proposed that the present schools in the Tomales High School District, less Point Reyes and West Marin districts, be unified with the Novato Unified School District and the Lincoln, Laguna and Union Joint School Districts, which are part of the Petaluma High School District.

In essence, this would provide a unified school district stretched across the northern part of Marin, with a portion of the Tomales district extending into Sonoma County.

The Point Reyes and West Marin districts would then be placed in the Tamalpais High School District, Mengel said. He contended that people in West Marin have been seeking to join the Tamalpais district, and this plan would provide that opportunity.

TOMALES DESIRES

Roy Parks, a committee member and trustee of the Tomales High School District, said the people in the Tomales area want unification of schools in the present district.

Mrs. Conner said the committee is pressed for time because it has to have the hearing, adopt a final plan and present it at the February meeting of the State Board of Education.

Any proposal involving districts in the Petaluma High School District would require the approval of the Sonoma County Committee, she said. Any proposal involving a portion of another high school district must include plans for "the district to be divided," Mrs. Conner said.

The committee also commended former member Mrs. Ellen Binckley for her efforts, and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Sally Rakow.

Absent were David D. Ring and Galen H. Williams.

A City Council For Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in 93 years, the nation's capital is going to have the form of government employed in most of the other cities of the country — a mayor and a city council.

The last obstacle to the change was hurdled yesterday when the Senate confirmed President Johnson's nine nominees to the Washington City Council.

Earlier, the President tapped Walter Washington to be the capital city's mayor or commissioner, replacing a three-commissioner system that was instituted in 1874.

Enchanted Knolls Asks School Site Solution

Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association last night joined the protest against the city-school deadlock in Mill Valley over development of the Project 17 area.

The homeowners association passed a resolution urging the school district board and city council to resume negotiations for the proposed middle school and park-recreation area on Project 17.

The school board recently turned its attention to developing the middle school at the Alto-Edna Maguire School site when cost estimates showed the Project 17 site would cost $2.9 million, $400,000 too much.

Another group of Mill Valley citizens is circulating petitions asking city officials to reconsider their position of the project.

Willard H. Pennell, president of the homeowners association, said "It seems inconceivable to me that the two elected bodies could not work out a solution . . . since everyone in the Mill Valley area stands to benefit a great deal from the joint project.

"If agreement cannot be reached, perhaps an independent citizens' committee should review the areas of disagreement before the project is dropped."

The Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association board also:

DIRECTORS — Appointed two new board members to fill vacancies: Colin C. Wong of 59 Keats Drive and Mrs. J. V. Edmisten of 143 Roque Moraes Drive.

SIDEWALK — Urged the city council to build a temporary walk on the west side of Camino Alto between Sycamore and East Blithedale avenues for students walking to Tamalpais high School.

LANDSCPING — Voted to landscape the south side of Lomita Drive between Roque Moraes Drive and East Blithedale Avenue.

POWERHOUSE — Commended Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for razing its old power house on Roque Moraes Drive.

No Taking Of Mussels Yet

The annual quarantine on mussels, scheduled to end last Tuesday, has been extended indefinitely by Dr. Caroline Albrecht, Marin County health officer.

Dr. Albrecht acted on receipt of a report from the state Department of Public Health that toxin levels remain too high in mussels taken in Marin County waters.

Dr .Albrecht said she will lift the quarantine as soon as the state health department advises it is safe.

Cycle Rider Is Hurt In Crash

Valerie Taylor, 18, of 45 Wolfe Avenue, San Rafael, was treated for scrapes and cuts on her left arm at Marin General Hospital yesterday after reportedly being involved in a motorcycle accident.

Miss Taylor declined to give details of the accident to Ross police. Police could only say the accident apparently happened early yesterday afternoon in Ross or San Anselmo.

Miss Taylor was riding on a motorcycle being driving by a man who gave his name as Michael McLennon of San Rafael, Ross police said.

Burglar Gets Only Guitar In Break In

Burglars, apparently looking for money, settled for a guitar, Mrs. Hildred Huyssoon, owner of the Yarn Nook at 550 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, reported to police yesterday.

The store had been broken into during the night, she said, stating that a rear window had been broken and then opened.

There was no cash in the shop and only missing item was the guitar, valued at $25.

EXECUTIVE CAR
SPECIAL
$2695

Here's a little Special Deluxe 4-Dr. that we've used here at our company during the past eight months. It was used almost exclusively as a personal car by our used car sales manager.

Just over 6,000 miles but you'd never know it had any miles at all when you look at it. Light green mist with matching full vinyl interior. Fully equipped including automatic, V-8 engine, radio, heater, power steering, etc.

Never licensed so you would be the first and only owner of record. This car carries the full 5-year or 50,000-mile General Motors new-car guarantee even though it has 6,000 miles.

Sticker price on the window is $3209. Kelly Blue Book shows a used vehicle of like model and equipment should sell for $2810 without any guarantee. We'll sell this car for only $2695 with the full new-car guarantee.

Western Man's Tastes Linked To Blindness

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—The more civilized a person and the more exquisite his tastes, the more likely he is to become blind or deaf," a renowned eye, ear, nose and throat surgeon theorized Wednesday.

Dr. Izak Fick of Pretoria, Republic of South Africa, said refined foods apparently caused the secretion of insulin in the pancreas and lead to diabetes.

Whereas many elderly persons in the civilized world suffer from partial or total deafness and blindness, "persons living in the rural areas of South Africa—where they do not have access to the refined foods —may live to be 70 or 80 and never show any signs of these diseases."

The physician, who has won international acclaim for his studies on the effects Western ways of eating and living have on disease, said the insulin secretion overworks the pancreas and causes a breakdown of the metabolism process and resistance to disease.

In one language, the translation for diabetes is "rich man's disease," Dr. Fick said. The rich people in this race ate highly refined foods, did little work and subsequently had a high diabetes rate, he said.

More money should be spent on research concerning such metabolic disorders, he said, terming the problem "almost as great as, if not greater, than, cancer."

Lawyer's Estate Of $185,000 Goes To Widow

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The estate of attorney Samuel Brody, killed last June in a car accident with actress Jayne Mansfield, has been deeded to Brody's widow.

Brody, in wills dated May 30 and June 11, willed his estate, valued at $185,000, to Miss Mansfield, calling her "the only person in the world I love." In the will he disinherited his wife Beverly, 37, and the couple's two children, Keith, 10, and Elizabeth, 3.

But Superior Court Judge Arthur K. Marshall ruled that Miss Mansfield and the 40-year-old attorney died simultaneously and that the actress could not, under the law, inherit the estate.

Mrs. Brody had been named administratrix of the estate.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Some Persons Mutilate Selves To Gain Attention From Others

VAN DELLEN

Some people multilate themselves to get what they want. An elderly Lancaster (England) woman with varicose veins developed a band of ulcers on the lower part of the left limb. When the physician asked if an elastic band had been put around the leg she resented the question and changed the subject.

She was subsequently admitted to the hospital because the ulcers failed to improve. As the swelling subsided, a tiny depression in the skin encircling the leg was noted in the healed area. X-rays of the limb revealed a peculiar indentation of the bone that coincided with the groove in the skin.

ACCORDING TO the British Medical Journal, the woman protested that an encircling band could not possibly be present.

Finally she consented to an operation. When the leg was opened and some of the thickened bone was chiseled away, an elastic band was found. After it was divided and removed, recovery was complete.

Ten days after leaving the hospital she returned with an ulcer on the leg due to a phenol burn. Shortly thereafter she hid a light elastic band under the ring of her finger.

WHY? Te woman was mentally disturbed but her physicians finally discovered that she preferred ulcers to boarding summer visitors, whom she resented.

The same British physicians reported their experiences with a 51-year-old man with an ulcer that almost encircled the lower third of his right leg.

In this case, the band had not eroded the bone. It was removed when a loop of rubber appeared in the ulcer.

A WEEK LATER he returned with another band which was removed. This man was lonely and enjoyed the attention he received from the hospital staff.

Self-inflicted wounds are noted occasionally in victims hoping to gain something. They deny any knowledge of the origin of the lesion and cannot be tricked into admitting the truth even when confronted with the evidence.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ARTHRITIC

L.J.W. writes: Is there any way to tell whether you are a candidate for arthritis later in life?

REPLY

No. Heredity plays a role in some types of arthritis such as Heberden's nodes on the fingers. Almost every elderly person acquires osteoarthritis of the spine, hips, or knees which may or may not prove bothersome.

ALLERGIC FACTOR

F.N. writes: Is allergy responsible for diseases other than hives, eczema, hay fever, and asthma?

REPLY

Yes. Allergy is said to play a role in rheumatic fever, Bright's disease, purpura, and many other maladies.

ULCER AND ASPIRIN

O.D. writes: Can a person with peptic ulcer safely take any kind of acid medicine such as aspirin?

REPLY

It is not advisable unless the salicylate is buffered with an alkali.

BREAST SORENESS

Mrs. F.W. writes: What makes the breasts sore before the menstrual period?

REPLY

Engorgement. Breast and uterine tissues are affected by the same hormones.

NO HARM

Mrs. W. writes: Is it safe for a person with varicose veins to use a sunlamp on the legs?

REPLY

Yes, but a burn may be disastrous.

Student's Body Found In A Floating Trunk

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two teen-aged youths were charged today with being accessories in the strangulation of John W. Green, a University of Pennsylvania freshman whose body was found in a trunk floating in the Delaware River.

Police said the boys told a bizarre tale of disposing of young men who had been drugged at a tobacco shop. Many times, police said, the boys would take the drugged youths back to the university campus and dump them. They told police they and another boy each were paid $20 to get rid of Green's body.

Charged specifically with being accessories after the fact were James Hammell, 14, and Vincent Myers, 16, both of Philadelphia. They were arrested last night as police sought information about the disposal of Green's body.

Police said they were looking for the other boy and also for Stephen Weinstein, a tobacco shop operator believed one of the last persons who saw Green alive.

Green's body was found Tuesday in a steamer trunk in the river. The 18-year-old Des Moines, Iowa freshman was last seen at his dormitory Oct. 22, when he told roommates he was going to buy a pipe.

Detectives also said yesterday an autopsy showed Green was given knockout drops and was abused sexually before he was strangled.

The autopsy by the Medical Examiner's office also revealed head and neck bruises and teeth marks on the body.

Earlier, police said Green may have been slipped the sleeping potion in mustard used on a hamburger. Detectives said five students at the university reported they had been administered sleeping drugs in unusual circumstances in the area where Green was believed to have been the day he vanished.

Green's shoeless body was found wrapped in a sleeping bag and clad in dungarees and a t-shirt.

Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter said the trunk in which Green's body was found was bought in "the recent past" at a center city store, by someone who inquired whether it was waterproof. He would not identify the purchaser.

Marijuana Suspect Pleads Innocent

Chico Marcado, 50, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to marijuana possession. Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 28.

Marcado, of 585 Midway Street, Novato, allegedly has two marijuana cigarettes when halted on Tiburon Bouldvard by sheriff's officers Oct. 22.

'Opportunist' Doves Hit By Mrs. Black

MILLBRAE (AP) — Shirley Temple Black, campaigning for Congress, was critical last night of "opportunists" who seek office on a platform of "bringing the boys home now" from Vietnam without offering solutions.

The former child film star spoke at a $25-a-plate fundraising dinner for herself and three other Republican candidates, Paul N. McCloskey, William H. Draper Jr. and Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore.

McCloskey, a dove, declared in rebuttal: "I don't think we should be misled to beleive that this is a just war."

A Marine combat platoon leader in Korea and the recipient of the Navy Cross, Silver Star and two Purple Hearts, McCloskey cited the Geneva Accords which declared Vietnam was one country and not two. "The Geneva Accords are a means to lead the world to peace," he said.

Purse Stealing

Gail Webster of 275 Curry Lane, Sausalito, told Corte Madera police yesterday that a purse containing all her identification cards and a small amount of money had been stolen from her car while it was parked at Meadowsweet School.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Special On Outdoor Life—A Fine Hour

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Last night's National Geographic Society special on CBS-TV, "Grizzly!", was billed as a look at a conservation hunt for the dangerous bear. Surprisingly, it also turned out to be an invigorating hour about twin brothers who have dedicated themselves to preserving wild-life — and about their attractive, useful life in the great outdoors.

WELL-ROUNDED

In short, this program which had seemed in advance to be yet another one-dimensional study of conservation was, happily, a well-rounded picture of the human perspective behind the work itself. Instead of mere men at work, producer-writer-director Irwin Rosten offered us the sensitive perception that showed the ideals, the love of nature and the scientific inquisitiveness that combined to spur the brothers on.

The broadcast, produced by the National Geographic Society in association with David Wolper's documentary organization, told the story of Drs. John and Frank Craighead and their continuing eight-year effort to save the grizzly bears from extinction. Showing also their work with other wildlife, including elk, eagles and hawks, the hour was filmed in Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. The brothers live at Jackson Hole, Wyo., with their families, in neighboring homes that began as cabins the two men built for themselves.

OUTDOOR LIFE

If ever a television program made the outdoor life seem glorious and desirable, this was it. Watching the grown and younger children share their fathers' work, learning and maturing in that beautiful country, one could easily sense the unspoken message concerning the results of lives that appreciate and stress usefulness and a closeness to nature. It provided a sharp and welcome change from the visions of Sunset Strip types one sees parading endlessly across television shows, and who are given tion to their worth.

Over at NBC-TV, meanwhile, prominence way out of propor-Jack Benny proved again last night that anything he touches turns stylish. He showed up as this week's host of the "Kraft Music Hall," in an hour of variety called "Fiddler on the Loose," and brought the series the "special" quality it constantly seeks but only fitfully achieves.

Not even some noise by a group called the Blues Magoos could throw Benny off stride. He was in rare form, and his material was up to it. His piano-violin duet with Liberace on "when a gypsy makes his violin cry" was a gas, as we say in chic Hollywood.

Astrud ("the girl from Ipanema") Gilberto was a delight, and so was concert violinist Michael Rabin. And the evening's piece de resistance was a performance by "The Waukegan String Quartet," which included Benny, Rabin, Henny Youngman on another violin and Morey Amsterdam on cello. It was each man for himself, and I don't know who won, but Beethoven lost.

Burglar Nets $600 In Shop Break-Ins

The burglar who entered seven shops at Sausalito's Village Fair Monday night took a total of $600, police reported yesterday. Merchandise at the shops was untouched.

The burglar entered the Karmel Korn Shop, Littlest Angel, A Man's World, Kjell Imports, La Pinata, Bath and Boutique and Cook Smart.

Fire Believed On Road First

For a moment there, it looked as if Bolinas Road in Fairfax was on fire. And right outside the fire department, too.

Black smoke began to pour out from under each side of the road about 5 p.m. yesterday and lay like a blanket over the intersection. Firemen rushed out of the building with breathing masks to investigate.

They found someone had dumped a five-gallon can of oil and paint thinner in a creek culvert under the road and attempted to set it on fire. "Kids probably," said a department spokesman today but police were investigating further.

Tax Pact Deadline Set For Tamalpais Owner

An impatient Larkspur City Council last night gave owners of Tomales Retirement Home until Dec. 6 to prepare an acceptable contract to insure that the city gets property taxes.

"We are looking for some such document agreeable to all," said Councilman Vaughn Marker. "We feel we have been waiting an unduly long time."

UTAH SPEAKS UP

Theron L. Hedgpeth, representing Utah Construction Co. which owns the $10.5 million home now being constructed on Bon Air hill, replied he is certain the agreement can be reached in that period.

If it isn't, said Marker, the council will hold public hearings and attempt to withdraw the use permit it granted the home for construction in the first place.

The 12-story home is now taxable, and the council wants it to remain that way. They want protection in the event that ownership passes to a non-profit organization that could apply for and receive tax exemption.

DEED RESTRICTION

Albert Bianchi, the city's special attorney for the retirement home case, said the agreement should be in the form of a deed restriction to be recorded as a supplement to the existing recorded deed and which guarantees that whoever acquires the property would still have to pay taxes or the equivalent of the taxes.

Hedgpeth, who, councilmen said, is the first representative of Utah to appear to answer their many questions, repeatedly assured them his firm and the firm's associate, Henry C. Beck, have no intention of trying to dodge taxes.

He said they are willing to guarantee payment of taxes for 10 years, but to guarantee payment forever would be unrealistic.

OPERATOR OUT

Hedgpeth admitted Ross Valley Homes Inc., a non-profit organization, was once a prospect for operating the home, but said it no longer is involved and even if it were, Utah would still be owner and responsible for taxes.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon said no other property owner in Larkspur has agreement to only pay taxes for 10 years. If Utah has no intention of avoiding taxes, he said, the deed restriction cannot be objected to.

Councilman Marker added, "We intend to see that the property pays taxes. All we want is to get it in writing."

Hedgpeth said he will begin work with Bianchi within a week, that he felt certain a satisfactory contract can be reached by the Dec. 6 deadline.

Larkspur Council Offers College Park Sandbag Help

A sandbag levee as a temporary measure to prevent future flooding of the College Park subdivision was agreed upon last night by Larkspur City Council.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst told councilmen the bags, already available, could be stacked across College Avenue near Kent and Woodland avenues at the start of any serious winter rainstorm.

This would prevent water from coursing down College Avenue and causing further damage, he said. Bathurst estimated last year's storms alone caused about $35,000 damage to subdivision homes there. He said city maintenance employees could be responsible for putting up the levee, and city police could re-route traffic after barricade warnings were set up.

Bathurst also said a convenient place is nearby to store the sandbags until needed. He said the levee would probably be about eight inches high. The area has been plagued with flood problems for six to eight years, he said, and permanent relief is expected with the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

ORDINANCES — Reintroduced the revised encroachment ordinance including provisions for control of street trees and which would prevent encroachment on city property without permit. Adopted a bicycle ordinance.

NUISANCE ABATEMENT — Instructed the city manager and city attorney to proceed with legal measures under the city's nuisance abatement ordinance to restrain packs of dogs running in the Boardwalk 1 area.

RESOLUTIONS — Passed a resolution to permit transfer of a franchise in an inner-corporation change by Televue Systems cable television. Resolved to detach a small parcel in Lark Meadows subdivision for annexation by Corte Madera because the parcel's only access road fronts on that city.

INSURANCE — Authorized Mayor Earl J. O'Grady, absent last night, to enter contract with Prudential Insurance Co. for health and accident insurance for city employees.

APPOINTMENTS — Made permanent the appointment of George B. Rodgers, who completed his probationary period as fireman.

AGREEMENTS — Agreed for the mayor to sign an agreement for participation in the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

DONATIONS — Denied by a split 2-2 vote the request by Chamber of Commerce for $200 for Christmas decorations for downtown streets. Councilmen Brixon and Henry Brocco were for the donation. Marker and Alfred Malvino were against it.

Shots Fly Over Candidate's Head

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four rapidly fired shots missed U.S. Rep. John Rarick, D-La., candidate for governor in Saturday's Democratic primary, today.

Police began a search for three, possibly four men, in a black compact car from which the shots were fired.

Rarick had been at a television station WWL-TV preparing a message for use in the final days of the campaign.

The shots were fired as the 43-year-old congressman, his wife, and Executive Assistant Neal Edwards returned to their hotel in the French quarter and left their car in the garage.

Edwards said that when the first shot was heard, the group either fell down or ran between cars parked in the garage. No one was injured. One shot chipped part of the garage.

Sal Maglie Blasts Ex-Boss Williams

BOSTON (AP) — Deposed Boston Red Sox pitching coach Sal Maglie has blasted Manager Dick Williams on several counts, including claims that Williams used poor judgement in the seventh World Series game and later lacked "the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

The usually quiet Maglie made his comments in a telephone interview published in today's Boston Herald Traveler. He spoke from a hospital room in Niagara Falls, N.Y., where he is in traction for treatment of a neck injury suffered in an automobile accident in Buffalo last month.

"I got a lousy deal from Dick Williams," Maglie said. "I've kept quiet long enough . . . I don't like being stepped on."

Maglie said Williams "never listened to me," including during the seventh World Series game when Boston right-hander Jim Lonborg was pounded by the victorious St. Louis Cardinals before being relieved.

"It was obvious Lonborg didn't have it. Williams should have gotten him out sooner, and I told him so. It was a crime that he let a man who'd done such a great job for him all season take a pounding like that. It was degrading," Maglie said.

As for his own situation, Maglie said Williams told him after the last Series game, "I'll be talking to you."

"I'm still waiting," the former pitching great said. "He's never had the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

Maglie, who was operating on a two-year contract extending through this season when Williams was hired, said he could "appreciate the fact that the guy probably never wanted me on his staff in the first place."

He said because of this he went to Williams at mid-season and offered to step aside, but the manager "didn't have the courage" to take him up on it.

Maglie also questioned the hiring of a former catcher, Darrel Johnson, as his successor.

"I think a pitching coach should be a former pitcher," he said. "He should have that feeling — know what it's like to be out on the mound."

The famed "Barber" who helped pitch the old New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers to National League pennants in the 1950s, also said he "may be all through with baseball and go into something else." He said he had not sought another baseball job and may not when he is released from the hospital.

TRAFFIC VICTIM—New York Ranger forward Orland Kurtenbach was knocked to the ice during this third period action against the dark-uniformed California Seals at Oakland Arena last night. New York's Larry Jeffrey (17) skates off with the puck as Cal's Mike Laughton (22) and Aut Erickson (4) hurdle the prostrate Kurtenbach.

Westrum Makes His Return Trip

Former New York Mets manager Wes Westrum came home to the San Francisco Giants today—as a coach.

The 45-year-old Westrum, the Giants' No. 1 catcher for 11 years during their glory days in New York, was signed to a coaching contract with San Francisco yesterday by owner Horace Stoneham in Phoenix, Ariz.

Westrum, a native of Clearbrook, Minn., makes his home in Phoenix and Stoneham has a winter home there.

Westrum was a coach with the Giants for five seasons before switching jobs with Cookie Lavagetto of the Mets in 1963. Wes went on to serve as Casey Stengel's chief lieutenant with the Mets until midway through the 1965 season when Casey fractured his hip and finally resigned as skipper.

Stengel hand-picked Westrum as his successor and Wes enjoyed a measure of success when the Mets finished ninth in 1966—their highest placing in their brief history. The club, however, slipped back to 10th in the National League this past season and Westrum was not offered a contract for 1968.

STAFF

Westrum joins a San Francisco coaching staff which includes former teammate Larry Jansen, Charlie Fox and Harry Lowrey.

In another personnel announcement, the Giants said they have hired Clyde King, a pitching coach with the Reds, Cards and Pirates, as their minor league pitching instructor. King, who is 42, was a journeyman pitcher with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the years following World War II.

The Giants said King also will be given special assignments after spring training.

Alex Hawkins In Doghouse With Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Someone on the Baltimore Colt roster was to be put on waivers today, and one name in some people's minds was that of Alex Hawkins.

Hawkins, who only last week won the game ball for his performance against the Washington Redskins, is in the Colts' doghouse after being arrested in a gambling raid at 4:45 a.m. Wednesday by Baltimore county police.

STIFF FINES

Colt Coach Don Shula said stiff fine would probably be in store for Hawkins, but Shula would not predict beyond that.

Two Colt players were scheduled to be activated today — flanker Jimmy Orr and defensive back Preston Pearson — and there is only one vacancy on the roster. Defensive back Jim Welch, who is injured, cleared waivers yesterday.

But Shula could not dismiss the fact that Hawkins was out late on the day before a hard practice and three days before the Colts meet the Green Bay Packers in a crucial game for both National Football League clubs.

OVERDOING IT

"Our curfew, particularly this early in the week, isn't rigid," said Shula. "But after all, 4:45 a.m. is overdoing it quite a bit."

Also arrested in the police raid was Bert Bell Jr., a former business manager of the Colts, and son of the late commissioner of the National Football League.

Warriors Continue String; 76ers Next

DETROIT (UPI)—Can Jim King of San Francisco ever fill the void left by high-scoring Rick Barry, ex-Warrior who jumped to the rival American Basketball Association?

Hardly. But the former Tulsa University star who is in his fourth and best year in the National Basketball Association has taken over a position long familiar to Barry—leading scorer on the team.

8-4 RECORD

King's unerring eye has helped the Warriors attain an 8-4 record and stay on the heels of front-running St. Louis in the NBA's Western Division. He scored 32 points last night, 12 of them in the final quarter, to lead the Warriors to a 137-132 triumph over the Detroit Pistons.

It was San Francisco's sixth consecutive victory.

The Warriors play the world champion Philadelphia 76ers for the first time this season at Philadelphia Saturday night in a rematch between the defending champions of the NBA's two

Palmer, Casper Favored

HONOLULU (UPI)—Golfing's all-time money winner and the top golfer of 1966 were picked today to win the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament which got underway at the lush Waialae Country Club.

Arnold Palmer, who already has pocketed over $937,000 since he turned professional in 1954, and Billy Casper, the 1966 U.S. Open champion and last year's leading money winner, were 6-1 betting favorites to capture the rich first prize of $20,000 in this third annual classic.

The muscle man from Latrobe, Pa., who trails Jack Nicklaus by $6,000 on the PGA tour, is hoping the first prize will rocket him ahead of the burly Columbus, Ohian and make him the first golfer to win over $200,000 in a year.

Nicklaus passed up this tournament to appear in exhibition in Australia.

Palmer, playing with a sore back and a kink in his shoulder, said a 275 should win the tournament.

A favorite with the crowd, Palmer played a practice round yesterday with 1,000 fans following him around the par-72, 7,020-yard Waialae Country Club course. He shot a 69 but said "The fairways are a bit long because of the rain earlier this week."

Others counted on to give Casper and Palmer a run for their money were Doug Sanders, George Archer, Gay Brewer, who won the first Hawaiian Open in 1965 and passed up the rich Sahara International to rest up for this event; Bob Goalby, Bob Charles, Gardner Dickinson, Bert Yancey, Miller Barber, Charles Coody and hometowner Ted Makalena.

Making his pro debut in this tourney is San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo.

How About A Playoff If Preps End In Tie?

STALE MATES—Some wag once opined that a tie is like kissing your sister. Which isn't very stimulating unless your name happens to be Charley Lollobrigida.

Well, Bunkies, don't look now, but the Marin County Athletic League appears headed for another football championship deadlock. Last year Drake and Terra Linda shared the championship and somebody forgot to rewrite the script because those very same teams seem certain to share the same frustrating fate in 1967.

Granted, upsets can happen between now and season's end, Nov. 11, but from this vantage point it looks like we're stuck with two champions.

Local Rule Against Playoffs

I say "stuck" because the local high school league has a rule prohibiting football championship playoffs. Oh, the league's board of managers permits basketball title playoffs to determine the Tournament of Champions representative, but football gets a kick in the pants.

It would be a tremendous boost to Marin County sports if the board of managers would rewrite the rulebook and permit grid tie-breakers.

It Could Draw Crowd Of 7,000

I know I'm counting my ties before they hatch but I'd love to see Drake and Terra Linda settle their differences in a Thanksgiving morning playoff at Kentfield. Marin fans have supported the expensive school sport all season and would pack the joint for such a showdown. A crowd of 7,000 or so paying one or two buck a pop could pay awful lot of bills.

SAY IT ISN'T SO — The scuttlebutt among San Francisco's St. Mary's Hospital staff is that 49er all-pro guard John Thomas will never play football again. Thomas suffered a terribly disabling injury against the Eagles in Philadelphia Oct. 15 when the tendons of both knees were severed.

NEW LOOK—The North Bay League will present a new look in basketball this season. Principals recently approved a junior varsity cage league instead of Class B, something coaches and athletic directors have sought for some time.

Another Item To Consider

The change means exponent basketball has been abolished in both NBL Sections I and II. Under the exponent system a boy's age, height and weight determined his eligibility for Class B competition. The new JV league will enable bigger boys, not quite ready for varsity, to play in championship competition.

Several high school leagues throughout the state have made the change so it might be another item for the Marin Athletic League to consider. I think most of our coaches and athletic directors would prefer elimination of Class B basketball in favor of junior varsity.

Rangers Throttle Seals

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Seals stayed even with the fast-skating New York Rangers for two periods last night but wilted in the final stanza.

The Rangers fired eight shots at Seals goalie Charlie Hodge in the third period and two of them got by him. They were fired by Orland Kurtenbach and Rod Gilbert.

New York's defense throttled the Seals who are winless in their last seven games with a 2-6-2 record. After getting off nine shots in the first period, the Seals managed only seven more during the rest of the game, including a feeble three in the final period.

Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin picked up his first shutout of the season as New York (6-1-3) moved into first place in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division.

The victory ran the Rangers' unbeaten string to eight games, their best in 10 years.

Seals coach Bert Olmstead said inability of his team to score when New York was shorthanded four times was the difference.

"Our wings just weren't picking up the puck along the boards on the power plays," said Olmstead.

He accused the Seals of "not working hard enough." The coach said conditioning was the big factor in hockey.

"We have to keep on skating if we hope to play as well as I know we can. We won't know how good we are until we have played at least 30 games."

The Pittsburgh Penguins provide the next opposition for the Seals tomorrow night at Oakland.

PACKERS STREAK

Colts Hoping For Reversal

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Baltimore Colts were looking past Washington last Sunday and building up a head of steam for Green Bay, they couldn't be blamed.

The Colts have lost five in a row to the Packers since 1964 when they dumped Vince Lombardi's men twice and won the title in the West.

Green Bay won 20-17 on two interceptions by Herb Adderley and a recovered fumble and rolled up a 42-27 margin on Paul Hornung's big five-touchdown day to win both regular season games in 1965.

FIELD GOAL

When the two teams wound up the '65 season in a tie for the Western Conference title, quarterback Bart Starr was hurt on the first Green Bay scrimmage play but the Packers won it 13-10 in 13:39 of sudden death overtime on Don Chandler's second field goal.

There was a bitter controversy surrounding the first field goal that tied the score and Baltimore still maintains it was not good.

With that background of defeat, the Colts were sky high for their first meeting in 1966 only to lose 24-3 when Bob Jeter and Lee Roy Caffey turned intercepted passes against Johnny Unitas into first half touchdowns.

SAVES DAY

The last meeting of the two clubs came on a Saturday afternoon in mid-December last season. Once again it was Zeke Bratkowski doing the job after Starr was injured, and the Packers won 14-10. Willie Davis saved the day with a jolting tackle that forced Unitas to fumble on the Green Bay nine with a minute to play.

And next Sunday?

The Packers are coming off a tough game Monday night at St. Louis with Lionel Aldridge, defensive end, a questionable starter after suffering an ankle injury.

Baltimore is without one half of its pitch-and-catch battery because Raymond Berry is shelved indefinitely with a shoulder separation. But Jimmy Orr, out since the first game with a shoulder separation, and Ray Perkins, who has missed two games and most of a third because of a sore leg, both are expected to return to help ot Willie Richardson, John Mackey and Alex Hawkins.

JOE DON LOONEY is reported back home in Texas after being waived out of the National Football League by Washington. Joe Don has been making the rounds from New York to Baltimore to Detroit to Washington and now back home ... The Redskins are expected to pick up Chuck Mercein, cut by the New York Giants.

GENE MINGO made only one field goal out of six attempts for Miami in the American Football League. Last Sunday he made two out of two for the Redskins. It must be the NFL is using the lively ball ... Two AFL castoffs are playing regulars in the NFL —Goose Gonsulin, long with Denver, is a safety man for San Francisco and Bob Breitenstein, who picked Denver over Washington in the days when the leagues were warring, will take injured Doug Davis' spot at offensive tackle for Minnesota against New York. Brady Keys, cut by Pittsburgh and signed by Minnesota, is the fifth defensive back on the Vikings ... Pete Beathard, Houston quarterback, has a .295 completion percentage on 13 of 44 according to the Oilers statistics.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Derbies, Safaris For Anglers Going On All Around The Globe

STEVENS

Derbies, tours, safaris — they're being held in widely separated areas of the globe. Probably less than 10 per cent of our local hunting and fishing population can afford the time or the cash to take them all in, but it's nice to know the whole western world has become contest conscious, and interesting, too, to know how the other half lives.

Some time ago, I mentioned the international Fishing Tournament in Rotorua, New Zealand. At the time it wasn't known if Air New Zealand would have a point of departure from Los Angeles. A "fisherman's special" leaves Los Angeles International Airport Friday, Nov. 24, bound for the fishing tournament in Rotorua, New Zealand. The "special" is an Air New Zealand DC-8 jet which will whisk you to New Zealand in 15 hours. Gives you a chance to test the waters around Rotorua for the Dec. 2 opening of the contest.

IT WILL BE a 15-day tour, organized by Air New Zealand in conjunction with Garcia-Conlon Corporation and Quality Travel Service of South Pasadena, California. The tour includes your entry in the fishing contest and costs $995 per person.

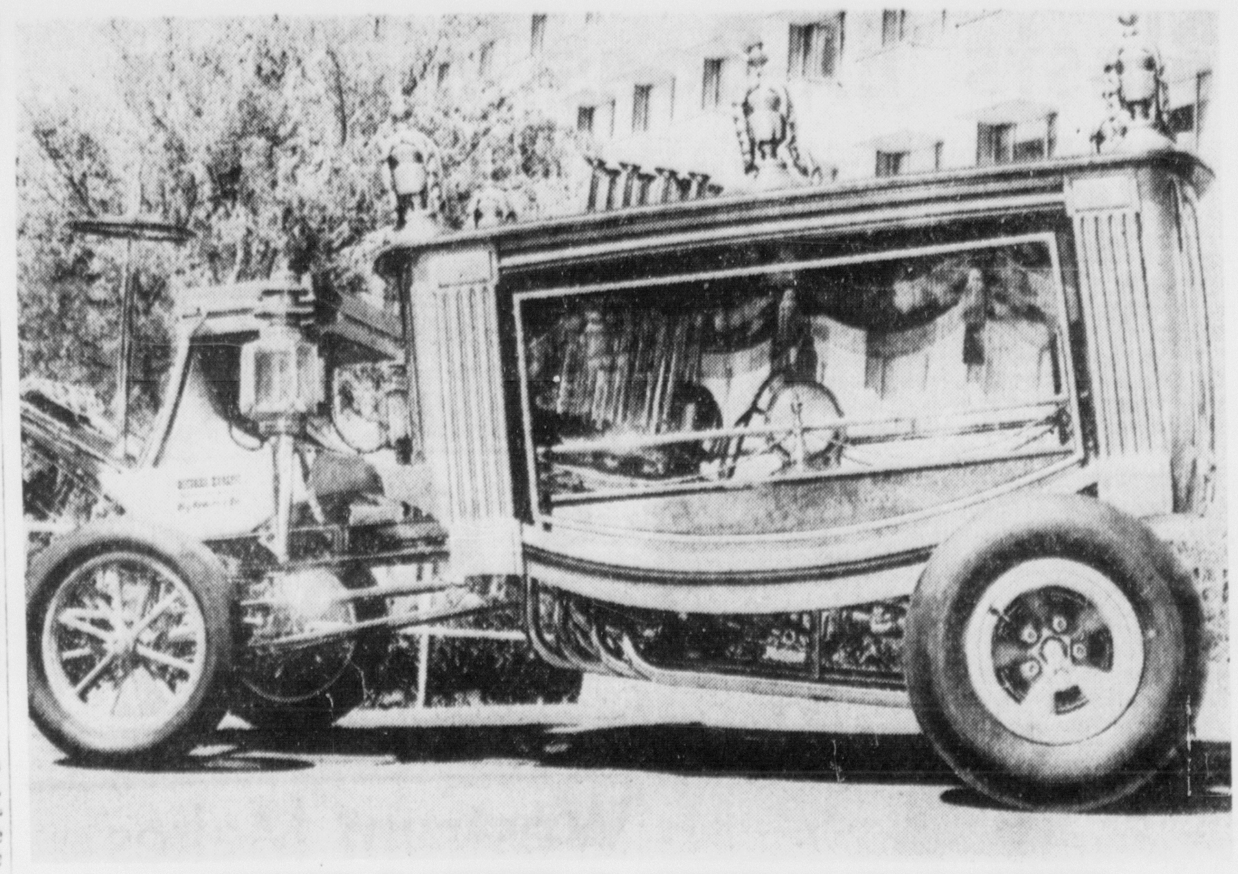
A deep sea fishing tour offering the opportunity to fish some of the world's greatest game fish waters in Australia, New Zealand, and Tahiti has been arranged for early 1968. Called the Southern Cross Fishing Tournaments, the tour consists of three, five-day tournaments. The first (Jan. 29 to Feb. 2) is at Cairns on Australia's Great Barrier Reef, one of the natural wonders of the world and one of the greatest unexplored game fishing areas.

TOTAL COST OF the tour, which leaves Los Angeles Jan. 26 and arrives back at L.A. Feb. 18, is $1,595 per person, including air fare, lodging and meals.

Main fishing will be for marlin and tuna, with points given for other fish landed.

For further details, write either Quality Travel Service, 1502 Huntington Drive, South Pasadena, or Air New Zealand, 510 W. Sixth Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

GETTING CLOSER to home, don't forget that the Niles Sportsmen's Club is holding its Annual Turkey Shoot on Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It is a trap shoot and running deer target. Refreshments are available at clubhouse on Castro Lane off Mission Boulevard, Fremont. The shoot is open to the public, so why not try for a turkey?



FASTEST GASKET CASKET IN THE WEST

This is one of the unique entries at the sixth annual International Championship Rod and Custom Car Show that opened today in Chicago. Called the Boothill Express, it started out as a 100-year-old, horse drawn hearse but with a little engine-uity has become the fastest and funniest way a casket ever got from the old time western funeral home to the boothill cemetery of long-standing western tradition. The custom car designer added fuel injection, a 500 horsepower engine, assorted other mechanical advancements and . . . away we go. (UPI Telephoto)

Doctors Report Mexico's Altitude Taking Effect

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Tests by two Albuquerque physicians on top American swimmers show that Mexico City's 7,300-foot elevation could add time—one to two seconds per 100 meters—to their performances in the 1968 Olympic Games.

Dr. Roy Goddard of the Lovelace Foundation and Dr. Francis McGill of the University of New Mexico, who made extensive studies on effects of altitude on swimming performances, say that their predictions are nearly paralleled by performances by U. S. swimmers in last month's Pre-Olympics in the Mexican capital.

Goddard believes there should be extended conditioning at altitudes similar to Mexico City before swimmers compete there. Goddard and McGill, who did the studies under a national grant, will recommend to swimming coaches that the U.S. team receive such conditioning before going to Mexico City next summer.

Seeing Is Believing: 49ers Look At Horror Movies

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Coach Jack Christiansen says his San Francisco 49ers will discipline themselves for Sunday's Kezar Stadium tussle with Los Angeles.

The Prospectors were pasted 45-3 by Detroit last Sunday and watched movies of that debacle yesterday.

"They saw movies of the Detroit game," Christiansen said. "They know how bad they were."

Los Angeles has only lost one of 13 games this year, throwing in the exhibitions. The one loss was to the 49ers but the Rams also took a 34-7 exhibition romp over the 49ers.

After that one, defensive line star Davey Jones of the Rams commented, "We made them play our game. We made them put the ball in the air."

The Rams force a team to pass more than it wants because of their great rushing defense, which has allowed only about 75 yards a game.

Nonetheless, Christiansen said "we're going to try to run against them Sunday because we think all teams, even the Rams, have some weaknesses that you can hit."

He said that if the running bogged down, the Prospectors would have to concentrate on the air game.

The 49ers' injury situation will be much improved over the Detroit game. Now it appears defensive tackle Charlie Kruger will play after all while Dave Wilcox, who sprained his ankle last weekend, is more doubtful. But running backs Gary Lewis and Doug Cunningham will be back at around full speed after missing the Lion game.

Open Minded, Says Brave Official

ATLANTA (AP) — A top Atlanta baseball official says he has an open mind and no prejudice against Milwaukee being included in National League expansion plans even though the Wisconsin city bitterly opposed moving the Braves' franchise to Georgia.

William C. Bartholomay would three straight national champicast the Braves' lone vate if the league decides to expand, ven though that vote involved Milwaukee, San Diego, Dallas-Fort Worth, and Milwaukee are cities listed prominently in expansion speculation.

Possible expansion to 12 cities from the present 10 will be discussed when league owners meet Nov. 13 in Chicago.

OPEN MIND

Regarding Milwaukee, Bartholomay told the Atlanta Journal, "The Braves' offical position is that no emotions at all will affect our decision. Bygones are bygones as far as that case goes." He added that he might vote for Milwaukee "if their case is the soundest."

Bartholomay said that in his opinion the best plan would be to attend the Chicago meeting "with an open mind," with no prejudicies and waving no banners for any certain city.

He said Honolulu and Montreal, among other cities, have contacted him regarding consideration for a National League franchise. He said, however, he has not heard from the Milwaukee group attempting to obtain another franchise.

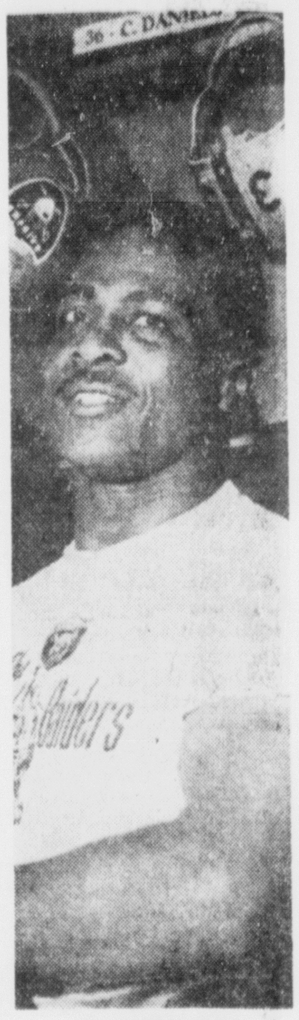
Raiders' Daniels Player Of Week

Perfect Day, Says Oakland Backfield Ace



CLEM DANIELS
A milestone

OAKLAND (AP) — The latest honor for Clem Daniels, the Oakland Raiders' versatile halfback, is American Football League offensive Player of the Week for his performance in Sunday's 51-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

In the same game Clem became the first AFL player to reach a career rushing mark of 5,000 yards, surpassing the Chargers' Paul Lowe, who now has 4,027.

ROUGH START

After a rough start in pro ball the 220-pound Daniels took his latest honor calmly, remarking that the game against San Diego just might have been the third "perfect" game of his life.

"I doubt if there are many pro backs who can say they've had many perfect days," he said. "I've had two where I felt I had a complete game in which I did everything right. One was a 32-17 loss to Houston in 1962, and the other was a game in 1964. You know, I can't even remember who that was against."

PERFECT GAME

By a perfect game, Daniels explained that he meant one in which he ran well, blocked well caught passes well and ran his pass patterns correctly, even when not the receiver.

Pass-catching is a point of pride with the 30-year-old back. He's snared 13 so far this season for 184 yards and two touchdowns.

In the past five seasons he has gained more than 1,000 yards each year in combined rushing and passing. His best year was 1963, when he ran for 1,099 yards and caught for 685. Last season his combined total was 1,453. This year, with seven games to go, his total is 666.

FREE AGENT

Hampered by injuries in his senior year at Prairie View A. &M in Texas, Daniels tried out as a free agent with the former Dallas Texans. Let go, he shopped in vain for a berth in Canada, then joined the Raiders in 1961, but wound up on the taxi squad.

Since then, he has come on steadily, being named the league's most valuable player in 1963 and playing in the all-star game the past four years.

He's made his home in Oakland ever since he joined the Raiders. In the off-season he devotes his time to managing his liquor store.

Terra Linda Goes For Title Clincher

Terra Linda High School's Trojans get a chance to insure themselves of no less than a share of the Marin Athletic League football championship Saturday afternoon.

The Trojans will be closing out their MCAL slate against Novato High on the Hornets' field at 2 o'clock. Drake, tied for the top with Terra Linda, each with 3-1 league marks, hosts rugged Balboa Saturday night in Kentfield and won't play its final league game until the following week, against Tamalpais.

SCHEDULE

Only other league action this week will find San Rafael (1-1-1) bumping heads with Tam (0-3) tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Kentfield.

On other fronts, it will be Redwood against Santa Rosa Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the College of Marin field in Kentfield, San Rafael Military Academy at St. Vincent's of Petaluma Saturday night, and Tomales hosting Middletown High Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas says his team will be in the best physical shape since the game against Redwood, back on Sept. 29. Fullback - linebacker Rod Powell is still on the questionable list. Halfbacks Keith Stirling and Mark Buckley will probably be ready after minor injuries in the game against Tam last week.

We'll be playing in the afternoon and that could be a factor," said Lucas. (Terra Linda has been playing its home games under the lights of San Rafael High School field, while all of Novato's games are Saturday afternoon affairs.)

"Novato will be tough on defense," declared Lucas. "They (Novato) ran and passed real well against Montgomery last week but goofed up when they got to the 20."

It will be Novato's final game of the season, and the Hornets, 1 win, 2 losses and a tie in league play, will be trying to play spoilers. And Novato's offense may just be ready to click.

"Our offense did a lot better against Montgomery than past games, although the score (6-6) wouldn't indicate it," Scott said about last week's game. "We moved the ball real well but had some bad breaks and couldn't score." As for Novato's defense, Scott said: "Take away that 54-yard touchdown run and Montgomery only made three yards on the ground."

San Rafael coach Bob Muster echoed the words of Terra Linda's Lucas prior to last week's Terra Linda game against Tamalpais. "I have been waiting for them (the Tam Indians) to explode. I hope it's not against us."

Tam was a pre-season favorite in the MCAL, but is winless in three league games and is 1-6 overall.

Drake coach Bob Franceschini knows what's in front of his Pirates. After all, the gridders from Balboa High in San Francisco are sporting a sparkling 7-0 record and are leading San Francisco's Academic Athletic Association (AAA).

"It is the same type team as Vallejo or St. Ignatius, which should be interesting," said Franceschini, whose Pirates lost to both teams, each rated as a Northern California powerhouse.

"Our defense will have to be a little better than last week," Franceschini said referring to the Bucs' 26-20 victory over Redwood.

"I felt we overemphasized (Larry) Blackwell's running and allowed them too much passing. It was a great game but I think our kids let down when they were ahead by three touchdowns. I have to give Redwood credit. They certainly came back."

REDWOOD

"The Giants are disappointed but hopeful," said Redwood coach Bob Troppmann about last week's loss to Drake and the game coming up with Santa Rosa High.

"I thought we played a fine game, we just got started too late," Troppmann said. "This was easily Jim Peters' best day, throwing wise." The Redwood quarterback completed 14 of 34 passes for 282 yards.

"Santa Rosa has improved quite a bit since the start of the year," said Troppmann. Terra Linda whipped the Santa Rosans 32-7 on the first weekend of prep football.

'Doc' Blanchard, Teammate Get Vietnam Duty

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix (Doc) Blanchard, one of the U.S. Military Academy's greatest football players, and John M. (Max) Minor, an Army teammate, have been assigned to flying duty in Vietnam, the Air Force said yesterday.

Blanchard, a three-time All-America at fullback and winner of the Heisman and Sullivan Trophies in 1945, will join the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing at Korat Air Base in Thailand on Feb. 25, 1968.

Minor, who played halfback, will join the 460th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Tonson Nhut Air Base in South Vietnam on Dec. 13. Both men are lieutenant colonels and will fly F-105 fighter planes.

Blanchard was Mr. inside to halfback Glenn Davis' Mr. Outside in the famed Army backfield that led the Cadets to unbeaten seasons in 1944, 1945 and 1946. Only a scoreless tie against Notre Dame in 1946 prevented Army from winning stree straight national champinship.

49ers' Situation Almost Identical To Month Ago

A month ago in the Los Angeles Coliseum the 49ers pulled the upset of the season when they beat the Rams 27-24. Now they are faced this Sunday with a similar job and under almost identical circumstances.

One week prior to their Coliseum victory the 49ers were clobbered 41-7 by the Baltimore Colts. Last Sunday in Kezar Stadium they were mauled 45-3 by the Detroit Lions. So if it is adversity that impels the 49ers to do the unexpected, they once again are plagued by a proper stimulus.

The 49ers are a very puzzling team, a puzzle to themselves, their fans and Nevada bookmakers who must use a mysterious slide rule in arriving at odds for 49er games. The bookies quoted the Rams 14-point favorites over the 49ers a month ago. For this Sunday's game in Kezar Stadium, the Rams are only 7-point favorites.

FROM SUNDAY to Sunday it is virtually impossible to make any sound prediction about what the 49ers will do. They are capable of looking like champs one Sunday, chumps the next. For years they have been taking their fans on roller coaster rides.

For one three-week period following the 41-7 stomping for the Colts, the 49ers displayed a most encouraging come-from-behind determination in fashioning a three-game win streak. They beat the Rams, Eagles and Saints after falling behind.

SUCH DETERMINATION prompted the oddsmakers to install the 49ers 7-point favorites against the Lions last Sunday. That was a mistake. The 49ers fell behind the Lions in the first quarter and kept falling further behind as the game progressed.

It's obvious that the 49ers have not yet developed any degree of consistency although there were some cautious comments about consistency during their three-game win streak. The Detroit game ended all talk about consistency which comes, not in a brief three-week period, but after a team proves itself again and again, week after week.

IT'S ALSO OBVIOUS that this second meeting Sunday with the Rams is a very important game for the 49ers. There will be a showcase crowd, upwards of 50,000 in Kezar, for the game. Tickets sales for the Ram game spurted while the 49ers were in their three-game streak.

If the 49ers fail to put on a stirring performance, they are going to have a difficult time of luring another showcase crowd into Kezar this season. The Oakland Raiders are giving the 49ers increasingly stiff competition at the gate as evidenced by last Sunday's Oakland Coliseum crowd of 53,000 against a Kezar crowd of 38,000.

ASIDE FROM THE competitive gate factor, the 49ers also have another very important consideration riding on the outcome of Sunday's game. That is their standing in the Coastal Division of the National Football League. A victory is imperative to keep them within shouting distance of the division leading Colts.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Don't try to "guide" the ball as it leaves your hand. If you have decided that a certain spot out on the lane is your target, roll the ball at that point. Don't let your hand try to bend the ball in toward the pin you eventually want to hit.

Your follow-through should be a straight-ahead motion. Reach out toward the target on the lane — not toward the target pins.

Chiefs-Jets Sellout

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A spokesman for the Kansas City Chiefs' yesterday said Sunday's game at Municipal Stadium between the Chiefs and the New York Jets is a complete sellout, indicating a crowd of more than 46,365.

Oaks To Host Pittsburgh

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)— Pittsburgh brings one of the American Basketball Association's tallest teams into Oakland Arena tonight for a meeting with the Oaks at 8:15.

The front line includes 6-10 Craig Dill, 6-9 Ira Harge, and 6-8 Connie Hawkins. Pittsburgh is 4-2 so far in ABA play.

Oakland sports a 4-3 record and is just back from Southern California after splitting a pair with Anaheim. La Vern Tart, the Oaks' guard from Bradley, set an ABA record of 49 points in the second game with the Amigos, but the Oaks lost by three.

Bears Get Ready For Trojans

BERKELEY (AP) — The California Bears, preparing to meet No. 1 ranked Southern California Saturday, banged through an intensive one hour and 50 minute drill yesterday.

Coach Ray Willsey said he was satisfied with the way his charges performed.

Offensive halfback Troy Cox returned to action, coming off the injury bench, but Willsey said he plans to let Cox' substitute, Paul Williams, continue with the starting assignment.

Today is Thursday, Nov. 2 the 306th day of 1967 with 59 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter The evening stars are Mars and Saturn

On this day in history:

In 1917, British Foreign Secretary Arthur James Balfour proposed a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

In 1920, a Pittsburgh radio station (KDKA) began the first regular schedule of broadcasting by reporting the returns of the presidential election.

In 1948, President Harry Truman and vice president Alben Barkley were elected.

In 1965, Baltimore Quaker Norman Morrison set himself on fire in front of the Pentagon with his 1-year-old daughter in his arms to protest the Vietnam war. The daughter was saved, but Morrison died.

A thought for the day: British Prime Minister Winston Churchill once said—"If we open a quarrel between the past and present, we shall find we have lost the future."

SLAM LEVEL

Philadelphia expert Norman Kay, eventually chosen for the 1968 Olympic Bridge Team with his partner, Edgar Kaplan, jumped to two spades at his first turn and jumped to four spades at his next turn. This showed a spade suit than could play at the slam level opposite a void, but it also told North that the first slam move had to come from him.

THREE ACES

Kaplan had only 13 points in high cards, minimum strength for an opening bid, but he had three aces. This gave him the right to make a move toward slam, and he actually bid the slam himself instead of merely inviting it.

At another table New York expert Phil Feldesman jumped to four no trump with the South hand after his partner had opened with one club and the next player had bid two clubs. North showed three aces, and Feldesman bid six spades. Oddly enough, the hand was played by his partner since North had been the first to bid spades.

TWO CHANCES

When Kay played the hand, West opened a trump, hoping to protect his values in the side suits. Kay drew trumps in three rounds, discarding a club and a heart from dummy, and then led a low diamond to try a finesse with dummy's ten.

As it happened, this finesse drove out the king. Kay claimed the rest since he could cash the queen of diamonds and get to dummy to discard a heart on the ace of diamonds.

TWO CHANCES

Kay had two chances for the contract. If the ten of diamonds lost to the jack (instead of the king) Kay would later take the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond. This would bring the slam in if the six missing diamonds broke 3-3.

A former Larkspur planning commissioner, Hall has operated a public relations business in Marin County since 1953 and has maintained an office in San Rafael since 1960. Recently he has directed promotion activities for Novato Savings and Loan.

Hall said he has closed his office in the Albert Building, San Rafael and will take charge of the Tiburon loan office immediately. He said he will continue in charge of promotion work for the entire organization.

A resident of El Verano in Sonoma County, Hall is lieutenant governor of Optimistist International's Zone 7, comprising Mendocino, Napa, Sonoma and Marin counties.

Hunt Foods Has New President

FULLERTON (AP)—William E. McKenna, 48, former vice president of Litton Industries, Inc., is the new president of Hunt Foods.

McKenna was elected Wednesday as the directors of Hunt Foods accepted the resignation of F. B. Fabien Jr., who will remain a member of the board of directors. Fabian had been president since August 1965.

McKenna, with Litton since 1964, was responsible for world operations of Litton's business equipment group.

Wine Crop Said Small But Good

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wine Institute President Don W. McColly today described the 1967 wine grape harvest as "short but of superb quality after a most unusual year."

The harvest of the 2.8 million ton crop is nearly concluded. It is estimated to be about 600,000 tons short of 1966.

McColly said winemakers, already pressed to supply an expanding market, were disappointed at having the crop shortened by weather but were pleased with the quality.

"October was the crucial month," McColly said. "It was ideal weather for maturing the grapes day after day. We had to have that after a cool and very wet spring combined with a cool September."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Low-Priced Stock Poor Choice For Novice Buyer

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 24 and have just bought my first stock, Aloha Airlines. I was wondering if this was a good choice. I have more money to invest and am thinking of food stocks. Would you advise Del Monte or Standard Brands? J. S.

A. I am always distressed at the tendency of young people like yourself to buy as their initial investment a low-priced, rather speculative stock about which they apparently know little. It has been my experience that most people in your circumstances have made money and enhanced their capital substantially over a period of years by sticking to high-quality, good growth issues and allowing consistent rises in earnings and dividends to bring about substantial prices.

I do not think Aloha fits into that category. It is an Hawaiian interisland airline with a negligible earning record. It doubled in price in this year's very speculative market and has now gone down somewhat. I believe you would do better with an established issue building a strong record, such as Walgreen.

Both your food-stock selections are excellent, but I regard Standard Brands as too slow in growth and price action for a young man of 24. I prefer Del Monte, and, as an additional selection, Chicago-based Consolidated Foods, which I believe has excellent possibilities.

Q. We have been buying Ceco on a payroll plan. Is it worth continuing? It just split the shares. What does that mean?—T.M.

A. Ceco is a sound stock, in my opinion, with a good earnings record in spite of its relationship with the cyclical building industry. I advise you to continue your payroll plan up to a reasonable proportion of your resources and then turn to something else. The two-for-one stock split gives you additional shares with no increase in your proportionate ownership. It is principally a means of bringing stock down to a lower price level where more potential buyers may be attracted.

Chrysler Output

DETROIT (BW) — Chrysler Corp. produced 160,012 passenger cars in its U.S. assembly plants in October, including 11,096 units built for sale in Canada, while the company's Canadian assembly facility produced 14,418 passenger cars in October for sale in the United States.

Heavy Selling As Market Cuts Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market canceled gains made today in a sharp technical rally and headed lower in heavy selling at the close.

Losses of several points were taken by such high-priced growth stocks as IBM and Xerox.

Down 1 or 2 points were a wide range of stocks, including International Telephone, Phelps Dodge, MGM, Procter & Gamble, U.S. Smelting and New York Central.

The rush to sell increased in pace and the ticker tape was late at the close.

Prices near the close included:

IBM, off 7¼ at 577; Xerox, off 8 at 282; Woolworth, off 1⅜ at 28⅛; RCA, off 1¾ at 61; General Motors, up ⅝ at 79⅝; Occidental Petroleum, up 1 at 105⅝; Texas Gulf Sulphur, up 3¼ at 132⅝; Pan American Sulphur, off 1 at 42¼; and Sperry Rand, off 1¾ at 61.

Gains outnumbered losses by a ratio of about 7 to 5 and the Dow Jones industrial average was up several points.

The best gain was trimmed, however, as traders took quick profits.

The rise was called a technical recovery by analysts who predicted a rebound of this kind even though the general trend still seemed to be lower.

Blue chips and glamor stocks joined in the advance.

Fibreboard Has Cut In Income

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Net income of Fibreboard Corp. for the third quarter ended Sept. 30 was $731,000, or 40 cents per share.

This compares with a net income of $1,236,000, or 68 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1966.

Sales for the third quarter were $36,294,000 compared with third quarter 1966 sales of $37,461,000.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30 net income was $2,098,000, or $1.15 per share. For the comparable nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1966 net income was $3,962,000, or $2.18 per share.

Sales for the first nine months of 1967 were $101,502,000 compared with sales of $107,704,000 for the corresponding nine-month period of 1966.

San Rafael, Novato Appliance Centers Consolidate Interests

There has been a consolidation of Stan's Appliance Center in Novato and the Van-Doyle Appliance Center, formerly located on downtown Fourth Street in San Rafael — though the two operations are still conducted at separate addresses.

Stan's has recently moved from 1217 Grant Avenue to new quarters at 868 Grant. What is now called Van-Doyle Appliance and TV Center is located at 4290 Redwood Highway (near Fairchild Semiconductor) north of San Rafael.

Television and appliance sales and service are handled at the highway spot, with Mrs. Irene Katlarz as manager. She was formerly at the downtown San Rafael Van-Doyle store. William Banghart is still in charge of the service department which covers the entire county. Eventually, I understand, it is planned to expand the operation to include home furnishings again.

A NEW STORE dealing in manufacturers' samples of women's wear (principally lingerie, nightgowns and such) has been opened at 1008 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield under the name of Samples 'n Savings.

Managing the business for a group of San Francisco owners is Mrs. Margaret Weatherwax of Sausalito. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

FIXTURES AND EQUIPMENT of the former Anton Wirth Bakery in the United Market at 515 Third Street, San Rafael have been acquired by United. Manager Joe Saccone at the market tells me the bakery will either be leased out fully equipped — or the equipment will be sold.

TWO MEETINGS still open for attendance in a three-part forum on financial planning are being conducted by Robert Rockland, a stockbroker with Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis at Room 182, Redwood High School Nov. 6 and 13 at 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by phoning the San Francisco office of the company.

WILLIAM C. MOBRAATEN of San Rafael has been elected vice president, operations staff, of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and will be responsible for coordinating staff functions for plant, traffic and commercial department operations at San Francisco headquarters. He moved with his family to Marin County from Los Angeles in 1965 when he was made assistant vice president. Previously he had served as general plant manager in the central Los Angeles area.

Mobraaten

Brown

JOHN F. BROWN of Woodacre has been assigned to Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Castro Valley office as assistant manager. He joined the bank last year as an administrative trainee and has completed training.

DANIEL C. DAVIS of Greenbrae, who will break away from his post as vice president and manager of Wells Fargo Bank's San Rafael office this fall to take charge of the bank's first office in Los Angeles, will not get out of the county without some sort of fanfare. Fred Enemark of Marin County Savings and Loan and San Rafael shoeman Irving Chapman are arranging a farewell party for him at the Meadow Club on Nov. 21.

WALTER P. SMITH of San Rafael has joined Foote, Cone and Belding as account executive of the Falstaff Brewing Corp. account and will be headquartered in San Francisco. He was formerly merchandising executive at the San Francisco office of McCann-Erickson.
